GERMANS CAPTURE CITY OF TALLINN

Fair Enough by WESTBROOK PEGLER

I go back to the preaching of William Green, the president of the American Federation of Labor, and call attention to his repeated demands that the law-enforcement agencies of the national, state and local governments proceed vigorously against crooks in the unions under his jurisdiction. I shall now reveal the hypocrisy of this position in presenting for your study an obvious conspiracy to mock the authority of the government of the United States from which unions of the A. F. of L. derive a special license to persecute and rob millions of workers and to extort money from employing companies whose ownership represents the investments of millions of citizens.

As most of us know, George Browne, the gangster president of the Stage and Movie Employes' craft unions, and Willie Bioff, his criminal colleague in the same racket, are under indictment charged with extorting $550,000 from the very employers with whom they carried on negotiations ostensibly in behalf of the workers. This union is a development of the old Capone Nitti mob of bootleggers, murderers and free-style criminals, but, nevertheless, its general counsel is Joe Padway, who is also general counsel of the A. F. of L. in Washington and one of Green's confidential associates.

Both Green and Padway extolled Browne when the fact that he was a common Chicago gangster was well known and Meyer Lewis, who was Green's regional agent on the Pacific coast, went so far as to send an official vote of confidence to Bioff when that evil parasite was entering jail to serve time for living on the earnings of a stable of streetwalkers.

Browne and Bioff were to have gone to trial in the federal court on August 18, but the government had to ask for a postponement until September 8 because the F. B. I. had been unable to find Nick Circella, alias Dean, a stickup man and habitual criminal of the Chicago area who occupies, by Browne's appointment, a position parallel to that of Bioff. Dean is a well-known dive-keeper in Chicago, operating a low but pretentious dump called the Colony club, which is frequented by all the best drunkards of the Gold Coast and the Corn Belt. His ownership of the joint is masked because his criminal record

BRITISH, REDS CONSOLIDATING GAINS SWIFTLY

Two Nations Expected To Retain Military Control Of Iran

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Britain and Russia moved swiftly today to complete their occupation of Iran and capitalize on the gains of a joint invasion which ended in complete victory yesterday when the little Iranian army laid down its arms after a four-day show of resistance.

Official quarters declined to say whether the allies had presented peace terms to Reza Shah Pahlavi's government, but informed sources expressed belief London and Moscow would stand on these points:

1—That the Iranian government hand over all Germans still in the country—estimated to include some 3,000 technicians.

2—That Iran guarantee facilities for transport of war supplies from the Persian gulf to Russia.

3—That a steady flow of oil be maintained to feed the British navy, army and air force in the middle east.

It was regarded as a foregone conclusion that the British and Russians would insist on retaining military control of all strategic points in Iran until the end of the war. The allies have asserted, however, that they have no designs on Iran's independence or territorial integrity, and it was assumed the Teheran government would be permitted to retain control of the domestic administration.

(Martin Agronsky, NBC representative in Turkey, said last night in a broadcast from Ankara that British, Russian and Iranian representatives were concluding a peace agreement which would include the aforementioned points and also provide a sizeable loan to Iran and compensation for loss of life and damage to property. Allied troops would occupy all important points save Teheran, but would be withdrawn at the end of the war, he said.)

As soon as the occupation is completed the allies are expected to

Message From Prince Konoye To Roosevelt Seen As First Step

NO HINT DISCLOSED

Think Conference Of Pacific Nations May Have Been Suggested

By Lloyd Lehrbas
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The man-to-man discussion of American-Japanese relations by President Roosevelt and Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura impressed diplomatic quarters here today as a possible first step toward a sweeping review of all important points at issue between the two nations.

Bolstering this conclusion was an official announcement from Tokyo this morning that the message which Admiral Nomura delivered to the president yesterday outlined the "imperial government's attitude toward the Pacific situation."

The message, this announcement said, was delivered at the behest of Prince Fumaimaro Konoye, Japanese premier, after a special cabinet meeting.

Asked at his press conference today whether he was hopeful now that "war in the Pacific can be averted," Mr. Roosevelt smilingly dodged making a reply by branding the question too long and too broad.

He had no comment on his meeting with Nomura and, to a question asked whether "we are getting anywhere," he replied there was no news on that today.

Reminded that the second anniversary of the war was approaching, and asked whether the "outlook is any better," Mr. Roosevelt remarked he was making a speech Monday, which is the second anniversary.

Reporters saw in his words an intimation that he might review the war situation in the address, to be delivered from his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., as part of a program arranged by the office of production management.

The fact that the Japanese initiated yesterday's conference, in which Secretary of State Hull also took part, was held deeply significant—indicative, perhaps, of Tokyo's desire to achieve a peaceful solution of the pending problems, or at least some of them.

The White House, the state department, and the Japanese embassy here

Ground Crews To Be Trained At $15,000,000 Plant In Texas

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Sheppard field, the air corps' $15,000,000 technical school established to train ground crews for keeping Uncle Sam's growing air fleets in repair, will be ready for its first student body of 26,000 youths September 29.

Despite 100-degree weather and rains that turned the site into a quagmire, the huge plant will be completed in only 105 days of construction work.

The school will turn out its first graduates in 22 weeks. Every two weeks a new group of 900 students will begin their training.

The campus will be 604 acres of once useless prairie land on which have mushroomed 420 barracks, housing 63 men each, and a 1,500-bed hospital.

There will be 10 mess halls, each of which will accommodate 2,000 men, in addition to the officers' mess. Two theaters, each with a capacity of 1,200,

ARMY OFFICERS TO TOUR WAR FRONTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A group of army air force officers, headed by Major-General George H. Brett, chief of the air corps, will tour the African, near east, Mediterranean and Atlantic war fronts to make a first-hand study of British needs for American aviaiton equipment.

In making this announcement today, the war department said the date of departure of the group would not be made public. It added that there was no fixed schedule as to the length and itinerary of the trip.

Brett will be accompanied by Colonel Ray A. Dunn of the air corps; Colonel James B. Newman of the army engineers; Lieutenant Jack W. Perry of the air forces, and Harry C. Short of the Middletown, Pa., air depot.

A similar tour will be made by Lieutenant-Colonel E. M. Powers, Major James H. Doolittle and Lieutenant K. G. Boyd, all of the air corps. They will meet General Brett's party at certain points of the war fronts.

Grave Fears Felt For Laval's Life

Life In Danger

Pierre Laval (above), former vice-premier of France under Marshal Petain, who was shot as he attended an anti-Communist demonstration at German-occupied Versailles, was reported today to be in a more critical condition. Also shot, but less seriously hurt, was Marcel Deat, former air minister. The assailant was arrested.

High Temperature Believed Caused By Infection Of Wound

PARIS, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Doctors decided to attempt an emergency operation on Pierre Laval late this afternoon to remove an assassin's bullet from just below his heart to save his life.

PARIS, German-Occupied France, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Fears for the life of Pierre Laval mounted tonight as doctors attributed a sustained high temperature to a possible infection in the assassin's bullet wound, just below his heart.

The possibility of peritonitis was regarded as a mortal peril.

Physicians were said to be considering an operation to extract the bullet in th se circumstances even though they had rejected surgery at first as too dangerous and had ordered the bullet left untouched.

The doctors evidently were anxious as Laval's temperature stayed at 39 degrees centigrade (102.2 degrees Fahrenheit) from early this morning until 4 p.m. this afternoon.

The sudden turn for the worse occurred overnight. If the high temperature should prove due to the beginning of an infection, it was pointed out, vital organs may be affected, since the bullet is lodged only about one-tenth of an inch from Laval's heart.

Because of the danger of disturbing Laval, the examining magistrate for Paul Colette, who shot Laval and Marcel Deat Wednesday, and the prosecuting attorney were barred from the hospital room when they called before noon.

At the same time, it was learned that French police had broadened their counter-drive against opposition elements to include the empire. A military tribunal at Meknes, French Morocco, sentenced two men to six years at hard labor for "an attack on the external security of the state.

A woman was condemned to three years in jail.

The condition of Marcel Deat—who is also one of the top leaders of the group favoring stronger collaboration with Germany and who was shot at the same time as Laval—was declared improved. Deat's temperature had returned almost to normal.

An investigation of the Caen home of the assassin, Paul Colette, was said to have disclosed that he had fought side-by-side with British troops at Dunkerque and had been evacuated with them to England. He was reported to have tried to return to England recently, presumably to join the free French forces under General Charles de Gaulle. How he got back to France in the first place was not explained.

An investigation was carried out at

FEAR IN IRAN BEFORE TRUCE IS DESCRIBED

Some Of Russian Bombs Dropped Near Homes Of U. S. Officials

By Daniel Deluce

TEHERAN, Iran, Aug. 28.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Thirty minutes after a formation of four Soviet warplanes dropped six bombs on a Teheran suburb today, orders by the new government of Premier Ali Furanghi went into effect for Iranian troops to cease resisting the invading British and Russian forces.

Some of the bombs, the first to be dropped in the Teheran area, fell within a half-mile of the homes of James S. Moose, Jr., United States legation secretary, and American Vice-Consul David D. Fritzlan.

Frightened refugees, meanwhile, brought to the capital reports that hundreds of casualties resulted yesterday when Russian air raiders divebombed Zenjan, a city of 85,000 on the railway northwest of Teheran.

The raiders were said to have blasted the railway station to bits and damaged azure-domed mosques and high-walled monasteries in the ancient town. Not a single anti-aircraft guns answered the attack, the refugees said.

Azin, the holy city of Meshet and Karaj, 20 miles west of Teheran, also were reported heavily attacked.

All day yesterday throngs of country folk who had forsaken their homes moved slowly into Teheran with their meager possessions loaded on creaking carts.

Rumors that an armistice had been declared raised false hopes. They

OKLAHOMA EXECUTES LOUISIANA FARMER

M'ALESTER, Okla., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Warren Abby, 58-year-old studious Louisiana farmer and social worker, was executed today for slaying his 78-year-old mail order bride on their honeymoon to get her meager savings.

Protesting bitterly that he was being murdered, Abby was strapped into the electric chair at 12:07 a.m. and was pronounced dead four minutes later.

Warden Fred Hunt, rigid disciplinarian who replaced kindly Jess Dunn after the latter was slain in a bloody break August 10, stood by with averted eyes.

Hunt, officiating at his first execution, paled visibly as the current was applied and did not once look at the man in the chair.

Abby strode to the chair without aid, and, when Hunt clasped his hand and asked for his last words, said clearly and without apparent strain:

"I am being murdered for an act which was forced on me. There was no premeditation."

Abby insisted he was frantic with fear when he pulled his automobile to the side of a road near Clinton, Okla., October 6, 1939, and bludgeoned his wife, Julia, to death with a tire iron. He met her in Cherry Valley, Ark., through a matrimonial agency and the couple was on a honeymoon trip to California.

"I thought she was going to shoot me," he asserted. "She had a gun and was insanely jealous. She thought I was having affairs with other women and said she meant to have me only for herself."

F. D. R. NAMES SUPER-BOARD ON WAR WORK

Supreme Control Of Nation's Resources Concentrated In Body

HARDSHIPS EXPECTED

Military Essentials Will Be Placed Ahead Of Civilian Needs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, striving anew to step up arms production, concentrated the supreme control of all the nation's natural resources today in a seven-man board headed by Vice-President Wallace.

This board—a super-ministry of supplies—was charged with the duty of deciding what proportion of the country's materials and productive power must go for military essentials, and what may be spared for civilian needs.

These decisions perforce will result in some civilian hardships, the White House stated but it reported that the office of production management was seeking to ease them as much as possible.

President Roosevelt issued an executive order last night creating the new body—the supply priorities and allocations board. In effect, it meant a reorganization of some of the existing defense machinery, and a limited reshuffling of some key defense personnel.

There has been criticism in many quarters for some weeks over the progress of the arms production drive, over reported friction and duplicating functions existing in various defense agencies, and over the delays in allocating available raw materials to industry

Whether the president's action would completely still the criticism was debatable, for a goodly portion of it has been accompanied by demands for the

NEGRO ADMITS RAPE-SLAYINGS IN WASHINGTON

Confesses Series Of Additional Crimes There And In New York

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Metropolitan police, claiming an amazing series of confessions from a one-time undertaker's assistant, today announced the solution of two crimes that shocked the capital—the rape-slaying of a pretty government stenographer and the rape-slaying of a young bride of a few weeks.

Edward J. Kelly, acting superintendent of police, said that the man—Jarvis Roosevelt Catoe, 38-year-old negro—had confessed not only in these two cases, but in a series of five other sex homicides both here and in New York. Three of the victims were white, four negroes.

The superintendent said he was satisfied the confessions were true and they "positively convinced him" that he had the man who raped and strangled Miss Jessie Elizabeth Strieff, war department employe from Des Moines, Ia., whose nude body was found hidden in the garage of a retired professor here June 16.

The slaying of Miss Strieff, who was waylaid on her way to a store in mid-afternoon on a Sunday, aroused congress to investigate local police efficiency and a shake-up of the force followed.

Kelly also announced that the undertaker's helper had made a confession in the rape-slaying of Mrs. Rose Simon Abramowitz, 25, who was

3 KILLED, 3 HURT NEAR MELVILLE

OPELOUSAS, La., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Three youths were killed last night and three others injured in a highway crash on the LeBeau road between an automobile and a produce truck.

Sheriff Simon Stelly said the truck driver, H. H. Downs of Hope, Ark., escaped injury.

Those killed, ranging in age from 17 to 20 years, were Ted Hollace Melancon, Willie Wilbert Harvey and G. B. Parker. Injured were Roy Jackson, Raymond Couvillion and H. Bordelon. All were from Melville, La.

Dr. J. J. Stagg, coroner, said the youths were en route to Melville when their car collided with the truck trailer.

Condition of the injured was undetermined today. They were taken to hospitals at Alexandria and Bunkie.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Vacationists and other motorists need not worry about the possibility of being stranded in faraway places because of the gasoline shortage. So says Ralph K. Chairman Maloney, Democrat, Connecticut, raised this question at a Senate investigation and Davies replied: "I can't conceive of anyone being stranded anywhere."

Hitler, Mussolini End 5-Day Meeting

Announce Plan For Removing Causes Of War After Victory

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini concluded a secret five-day meeting on the eastern front today with the announcement that they aimed at removing the causes of war and developing a harmonious and profitable cooperation for all the peoples of Europe, predicated on complete axis victory.

Their meeting began on Monday, within sound of cannon fire on the front.

(It started just 11 days after President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill's Atlantic conference and expression of war and peace aims were announced.)

It listed "destruction of the bolshevist danger and of plutocratic exploitation" as necessary to create the political, economical and cultural cooperation envisioned for Europe.

(The Roosevelt-Churchill statement of aims for world peace, freedom and prosperity envisaged the destruction of "Nazi tyranny.")

It was indicated that the fuehrer and the duce paid particular attention in their discussions to the length of time the war will continue.

The text of the statement from the fuehrer's headquarters said:

"The Fuehrer and Il Duce met at the Fuehrer's headquarters between August 25-29 in discussions which took place at the Fuehrer's headquarters for the north and south fronts. There were thorough discussions of all military and political questions concerning the development and duration of the war.

"The questions were studied in a spirit of close companionship and unity of fate which characterize relations of the axis powers.

"The discussions were permeated with the unchangeable will of both peoples and their leaders to wage war to a victorious end.

"The new European order which will emanate from this victory shall remove as extensively as possible the causes which gave rise in the past to European wars.

"Destruction of the bolshevist danger and of plutocratic exploitation will create the possibility of peaceful, harmonious and profitable cooperation of all peoples of the European continent in the political as well as in the economic and cultural spheres.

"In the course of these discussions, the Fuehrer and Il Duce went to important points on the eastern front when also one of the Italian divisions employed in the fight against bolshevism was inspected.

"On the occasion of their visit to the south front, the Fuehrer and Il Duce were greeted by General Field Marshal von Rundstedt.

"Furthermore, visits were made to the headquarters of the Reichsmarshal (Goering) and of the commander-in-chief of the army."

REDS' PLANES STILL ACTIVE

Germans Thus Far Unable To Establish Superiority In Air

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—After more than two months of warfare it is becoming evident, military sources said today, that Russia's huge air force not only retains its striking power but also is likely to remain a major worry to the invading Germans throughout the winter.

A seeming contradiction exists between the maintenance of Russian air power and the progressive retreat of the Red armies.

Actually, the inability of the Germans to establish air superiority, well-informed authorities point out, has been largely responsible for the failure of the Germans to carry on their lightning war tactics so successful in Poland, Norway, the low countries, France and the Balkans.

It is safe to assume that Russian air power, moreover, has been a considerable drain on the German luftwaffe.

In preparations for the campaign the Germans withdrew a large part of their air forces in the west to the eastern frontier.

But in spite of that concentration the Russians continue to strike regularly from the air both at the offend-

GERMAN ENVOY FACES CHARGE IN ARGENTINA

Accused Of Using Nazi Welfare Funds To Further Reich Doctrine

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 29.—(AP)—German Ambassador Edmund von Thermann was charged by a congressional investigating committee today with receiving money from ostensible German welfare organizations and using it for ends "foreign to his diplomatic character."

The committee, which has been investigating anti-Argentine activities for two months, submitted to the house of deputies its report on Nazi penetration.

It said there were 60,000 Germans in Argentina organized into cells and under oath to obey Adolf Hitler and other Nazi leaders "to the death."

Raul Damonte Taborda, committee chairman, in a synopsis of the report cited a receipt for 100,000 pesos allegedly bearing von Thermann's signature and acknowledging payments by German welfare organizations which the committee charged were the "Nazi political machine in disguise."

He said a special report on activities of the German embassy staff would be presented later to congress.

The committee, formed June 21 after newspaper charges that military officers and civilians had plotted to overthrow the government, revealed that the Argentine foreign office protested to Berlin against von Thermann's activities as much as three years ago.

In 1938, the report said, the foreign office protested that von Thermann "pretended to control Argentine sons of Germans" on the ground they were Germans.

The report mentioned books bearing hundreds of names listed as contributors to the German winter relief fund and grouped in tens. Each ten, or cell, was accompanied by a name—presumably of the cell leader—on the

HOSPITAL THREATS WILL BE REPORTED

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Evidence that East Louisiana hospital employes threatened to release criminally insane patients, sabotage the institution power plant and inflict bodily harm on officials will be submitted to the attorney general, the state board of institutions announced after a meeting yesterday.

Meanwhile, 50 state policemen remained on duty at the hospital as an investigation continued of the disturbances which began last Thursday when attendants allegedly objected to changes in routine and assignments.

About 150 employes, a board spokesman said, crowded into Superintendent F. A. Donaldson's office and threatened to "tar and feather him and put him across the Mississippi line." Business Manager Byron Williams also was threatened, the spokesman added.

A total of 57 employes had been dismissed and ten had resigned, the board said in a statement in which it expressed confidence in Donaldson, his staff and Institutions Director J. E. Snee.

Capture Of 22 Transports Loaded With Escaping Russians Reported

VIIPURI IS BURNING

Reds Believed Destroying That City In 'Scorched Earth Policy'

(By Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's invasion armies have captured the long-besieged city of Tallinn, capital of Estonia, the German high command announced today, and a violent naval battle was believed raging in the Gulf of Finland with the Germans attempting to smash a fleeing armada of Soviet warships and troop transports.

The thunder of gunfire in the gulf was heard in Helsinki, 50 miles across the gulf from Tallinn, and Finnish fliers reported seeing many dozens of Russian ships steaming out of Tallinn and heading eastward last night.

German and Finnish fleets and warplanes were said to be attacking the Russians in their flight from the burning capital.

Finnish aerial observers also reported great fires reddened the skies last night over Viipuri, indicating that the Russians were destroying that Karelian capital 75 miles north of Leningrad. The flames were visible 32 miles away, the Finns said.

Besides the capture of Tallinn "after a hard fight," the German high command announced that Nazi troops had seized the modern port of Paldiski, 20 miles west.

Meanwhile, the Russians acknowledged another major setback—the fall of the great Ukraine city of Dnieperopetrovsk and destruction of the $110,000,000 Dnieper dam.

A Nazi war bulletin declared several thousand prisoners were taken at the Tallinn naval base, along with 22 loaded transports, six coastal batteries and vast stores of booty.

A Soviet destroyer and nine other warships were sunk in the harbor, the Germans said, and other naval vessels were damaged.

Once a keystone defense point on the Gulf of Finland, with a normal population of more than 135,000, Tallinn was reported in flames by Finnish observers two days ago, and it

DISCUSS PLANS FOR DRAINAGE

Governor Confers With Association Officials On $10,000,000 Project

Plans for a $10,000,000 comprehensive drainage program for the 11 parishes under the supervision of the Northeast Louisiana Flood and Drainage association were discussed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the associations' executive committee with flood control engineers and Governor Sam H. Jones.

Jones arrived here early yesterday afternoon by plane and returned to Baton Rouge shortly after the meeting.

The group will present its case to army engineers at a public hearing on the matter, to be held in the near future, D. L. Pyburn, director of the state department of public works, declared. Plans for the project will then be presented to the Rivers and Harbors congress in Miami, Fla., on November 13. It is hoped that the program will be included in a flood control bill, to be presented later to congress, Pyburn said.

Governor Jones, who Pyburn said was "100 per cent behind the project," told the committee members that a congressional appropriation must eventually be made "if the 11 parishes affected are to progress industrially."

Parishes governed by the association are Ouachita, West Carroll, Richland, East Carroll, Tensas, Concordia, Morehouse, Caldwell, Franklin, Catahoula and Madison.

Pyburn said the executive committee would submit "an economic justification for the project" at the army hearing and that the committee representative from each parish would stress the need for flood control and drainage in his particular parish. Assistance from army engineers will be asked, he explained.

Louisiana and Arkansas will work as a unit to secure eventual congressional approval of the drainage program, it was learned.

At a meeting here on April 25, Jones organized the flood and drainage association.

"The governor has been intensely interested in the association and has stood firmly behind this program since then," Pyburn declared.

Present at yesterday's meeting at the Frances hotel were Jones, Pyburn, C. E. Christian, chief engineer of the Arkansas Flood Control association; Leo M. Odom, chief engineer, and J. R. Adams, district engineer, of the department of public works.

Members of the executive committee in attendance were:

Arden B. Smith, chairman, Oak Grove; Senator W. D. Cotton, vice-chairman, Rayville; P. O. Benjamin, secretary-treasurer, Tallulah; George T. Hider, Lake Providence; L. H. Cook, St. Joseph; C. M. Wactor, Darnell; W. T. Smith, Bastrop; Senator D. Y. Smith, Sterlington; C. B. Sherrouse, Gilbert; J. A. Wurster, Jonesville; and George S. Yerger, Tallulah.

DELTA TRAFFIC GAIN IS SHOWN

Passenger Increase Here In July Up 96 Per Cent Over Last Year

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 29.—(Special)—Delta Air Lines announced today its passenger business for July showed an increase of 87 per cent over July last year, and a 12 per cent gain over June of 1941.

Laigh C. Parker, vice-president in charge of traffic, said Delta's 87 per cent increase for July is the "greatest annual gain in Delta's history and was due in part to the large volume of defense travel over the system."

A gain of 1,215 per cent was reported by Parker for the first six months of 1941 as compared with the same period in 1935.

Parker said every station of Delta's "trans-southern route" reported substantial increases.

The biggest gain was at Charleston, S. C., which showed an increase of 132 per cent for July over the same month last year and a gain of 26 per cent over the previous month of this year.

Meridian turned in an increase of 117 per cent over July last year; Monroe, La., 96 per cent, and Atlanta, 94 per cent.

Other big gains included: Augusta, Ga., 88 per cent; Ft. Worth, 84 per cent; Columbia, S. C., 48 per cent; Jackson, Miss., 35 per cent; Dallas, 21 per cent; Birmingham, 20 per cent.

Routes to Cincinnati, Knoxville and Savannah were inaugurated this year, and comparisons with the previous year were consequently not possible, but these new stations all showed steady gains during the period of operation, Parker said.

The Monroe station of Delta Air Lines showed a 96 per cent increase for the month of July over the same month last year, it was announced today by R. E. Camors, Delta's station manager for Monroe.

SECOND ARMY UNITS ARE DUE HERE SOON

Six quartermaster units and two aviation squadrons are expected to arrive in the Twin Cities within the next few days, it has been announced by army officials here. The groups will operate in conjunction with the Second army.

Lieutenant Joe F. Moore, supply officer for the depot troops to be stationed on the 20 acres of land near the city limits of West Monroe, said Company B, 81st quartermaster regiment, Company A, 87th Quartermaster regiment, and units of the 90th, 201st, 207th, and 203rd Quartermaster groups will be stationed on the newly-acquired territory.

Already bivouacked near the fair grounds in West Monroe are Company A, 207th Quartermaster regiment, Company I of the 56th and units of the 85th and 88th regiments.

The 90th Bombardment squadron of of Savannah, Ga., with 13 planes, and a marine squadron from Quantico, Va., composed of 21 navy dive bombers, are scheduled to arrive this weekend and will be based at the northeast corner of Selman field, the camp site that was vacated Thursday by the 106th Observation squadron.

NEW TAX TO FORCE LIQUOR PRICES UP

It is estimated that retail prices of distilled spirits will advance 20 per cent as a result of impending federal taxes, rising costs of raw materials and generally higher operating expenses, trade circles report.

This would mean that a bottle of liquor now selling for $2.50 would cost about 45 cents more.

The new prices are not expected to go into effect until the proposed new federal levy of one dollar a gallon is adopted by congress. The increase, second in a year, will bring the federal tax to four dollars a gallon, the highest level since repeal.

The government expects to realize about $25,000,000 in additional revenue from the new tax. It was pointed out that taxes represent 65 cents out of every dollar spent by the consumer for liquor.

Some distillers have reported that rising operating costs have already forced them to increase prices by 50 cents a case. The cost of barrels is up 40 per cent, while grains have increased about 25 per cent. Cork shortages have been reported, and labeling, transportation, fuel and other items are also rising.

SHIRT SALES

The trade agreement which decreased the import duty 25 per cent between the two countries increased the sale of American shirts in Brazil.

AAA OFFICIAL TO SPEAK HERE

I. W. Duggan To Discuss Cotton Problems At Farm Bureau Meet

Farmers and townspeople from throughout Ouachita parish have been invited by R. N. Amacker, newly elected president of the Louisiana Farm Bureau federation, to attend a district meeting which will be held by the federation at 1 p.m. Friday, September 5, at Hotel Frances.

A feature of the meeting will be a discussion of the problems facing Louisiana agriculture as a result of present conditions throughout the world, Mr. Amacker said. The discussion will be led by I. W. Duggan, director of the southern division of the Agricultural Adjustment administration and an expert on the cotton problems of the south.

Mr. Duggan will attend two such district meetings in north Louisiana, one at Louisiana State Normal college in Natchitoches, September 4, another at the Hotel Frances.

Other district farm bureau meetings at Louisiana State university on September 2 and at Crowley on September 3 will be attended by Dr. R. H. Montgomery, well-known professor of economics at the University of Texas.

"All those who have heard Mr. Duggan speak want to hear him speak again," Mr. Amacker said in announcing the AAA official's forthcoming visit to north Louisiana. "Following his speech the meeting will be open for discussion of all problems facing agriculture in Louisiana and the south."

The four district meetings have several purposes, Mr. Amacker said, the more important being to explain the benefits of the recently enacted parity legislation, to plan an organized movement to have this legislation made permanent, and to inaugurate a campaign to secure parity loan legislation for producers of non-basic crops.

P. A. MELLGREN HURT IN WRECK

P. A. Mellgren, 1107 North Third street, yardmaster for Missouri Pacific railways was recuperating Friday from an injured shoulder received in an automobile collision here Thursday, according to police who investigated the wreck.

Mr. Mellgren was treated for a dislocated right shoulder, after a collision with Mrs. V. B. Hicks of Urania at the intersection of Jackson and Thomas streets, officers reported. Mrs. Hicks was driving south on Jackson, and Mr. Mellgren, going west on Thomas, attempted to cross Jackson when the wreck occurred. Considerable damage resulted to his automobile, police said.

FORMER SENATOR SPEAKS AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

Former United States Senator Joseph Ransdell addressed members of the Monroe Rotary club Thursday at their luncheon meeting at Hotel Virginia.

Reminiscing over his experiences as a member of congress, Ransdell recalled the building of the Panama canal, vote on America's entry into the World war, the squelching of President Woodrow Wilson's League of Nations plan, and other historic incidents.

The program was arranged by the international service committee of the club.

Guests were J. C. Ellis of Gretna, visiting Rotarian, and Dr. Bert Burgoyne of Lake Charles.

ONE CASE OF POLIO —NOT AN EPIDEMIC

Clearing up rumors of an infantile paralysis epidemic here, Dr. Douglas Williams, director of the Ouachita parish health unit, stated yesterday that only one case had been reported and that it was under careful control.

"Several rumors concerning varying numbers of cases of infantile paralysis have come to my attention," the health director said. "At present only one case of the disease has been reported to the health department. This case has been placed in quarantine, and all known contacts have been isolated until the period of incubation has expired.

"While I do not wish to minimize the seriousness of this disease, I would like to correct any false rumors as to the number of existing cases," Dr. Williams stated.

MOTORISTS ASKED NOT TO USE HIGHWAY 171

State police Thursday urged motorists to refrain, if possible, from using U. S. highway 171, from Lake Charles to Many, all day Friday.

The highway will be congested with army vehicles throughout the day, police declared.

MAYOR OFFERS HOMELESS AID

Will Provide Temporary Quarters In City Hall For 12 Families

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Mayor John A. Conway today offered to convert his private city hall office and a part of the public safety building into temporary living quarters for 12 families being made homeless by a $9,000,000 flood control project.

That would leave the mayor with his waiting room in which to conduct the official affairs of this steel and soft coal center of 66,668 population which was made famous by the disastrous Johnstown flood of 1889.

The federal government in all has taken over the property of 50 families along the Stoney Creek river, which runs through the heart of the city. The river channel improvement project, viewed by President Roosevelt during a tour of defense areas last fall, has been under way two years.

All but 12 families found new lodgings. As a United States marshal prepared to start evictions today, the mayor announced he would assist those left homeless until they obtain new quarters.

"We are not going to let these people be put into the streets but will make provision for them regardless of cost or effort," he said.

Then he made known a plan under which one family could move into his private office, a half-dozen into the police assembly room and one or two more in the police courtroom, both in the public safety building where the city jail and headquarters of police and firemen are located.

Cooking could be done in the jail kitchen on a community basis. The mayor arranged to bring in cots, partition off space to segregate the family groups and borrow dishes and other essentials from stores. The families would store all but their personal effects until they get permanent homes.

The mayor also said he would try to procure use of some trailer-homes from officials at Washington.

Canada represents more than 27 per cent of the total area of the British Empire.

"Every time we had company the evening would end with the guests going home in disgust," she said.

Mrs. Stern was granted a divorce.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

The attempted assassination of Pierre Laval in Versailles, and the widespread sabotage directed against the Nazi overlordship in France, may be the grim outward signs of a rebirth of the French nation.

It is too soon to determine that point yet. The land of Lafayette is desperately ill and the crisis has not been reached. Only time can tell what the end may be.

If there is any surprise attached to the attack on Laval, it surely must lie in the fact that it didn't come sooner, for he walked in the shadow of death. This pro-Nazi politician, who had been the premier of a free republic, has been standing for collaboration with that Hitlerian regime which for a time appeared not only to have crushed the body of France but to have killed her spirit as well.

The bullets which tore at Laval's flesh probably weren't fired at him because of personal hatred, but because he symbolized the hob-nailed boots of military might which had trampled the republic. The shots were aimed at Hitlerism, and not at Laval in particular.

In any event, taking the broad (and some might say cynical) view, the wounds of Laval or any other individual matter little in this situation. What does matter is whether this does indeed mark the rebirth of the great republic.

It may be unfortunate for France that events should have taken such an explosive turn at this juncture. It can only result in the exaction of great penalties by the Germans. Already they are speeding their round-up of enemies of the Nazi regime. The glittering blade of the guillotine is again in operation.

This column recently reported that Britain seemed worried lest the growing spirit of revolt among the peoples of the occupied countries might result in premature uprisings against the Germans. This could only hurt the allied cause, since the punishments inflicted by the Nazis would tend to intimidate other conquered nations.

Since my report, but prior to the Laval incident, London broadcast a warning to the French not to revolt too soon and thereby risk their lives unnecessarily. This appeal, which was picked up by the Columbia Broadcasting system in New York, advised France not to undertake open resistance but to do everything possible to slow down the Nazi war-machine by sabotage.

Of course the British have been cultivating the spirit of revolt in all the occupied countries by persistent propaganda—the V for victory campaign being a rather effective part of this. However, the allied plan has been to work for a coordinated revolutionary effort when the right moment arrived.

The way the pot has boiled over in France is an interesting commentary on how effective propaganda can be. In this case the British were so good that they now must devise propaganda to keep the French in hand until the appointed time has come.

By the way: Frequently there is a thought which I should like to call to the attention of the reader but which is irrelevant to the subject under discussion and so is discarded. Perhaps this difficulty can be solved by using this little "by the way" space from time to time for such briefs. Here is today's by the way:

If one of those gossipy sparrows told you that a mountain of American dollars would enable the Chinese to rush the building of a railway along that lifeline known as the Burma road, which winds its way daringly through mountain ranges and great gorges—and if the bold bird further suggested that this was symptomatic of a sensational all-out aid which would mean that Japan never could subjugate China—then would you think this explained in part the anxiety of Nippon to reach some understanding with Uncle Sam? Anyway, keep an eye on the Burma road.

SOLDIERS LIKE MANDALAY SONG

'The Lord's Prayer' And 'Short'nin' Bread' Also Favorites

FORT GEORGE E. MEADE, Md., Aug. 29.—(AP)—It's "On The Road To Mandalay" and "Maria Elena" that may go down in history as the songs of America's doughboys, 1941 style.

These are two of the outstanding favorites of soldiers stationed at this sprawling army post, which are being transcribed for use by the army's morale branch and are to be placed in the Library of Congress.

The mobile recording equipment, moving about through regiments of the 29th division, was loaned by the Library of Congress.

Used recently to transcribe folk music, in the Tennessee hills the equipment should be right at home because hillbilly tunes, as well as hot jazz numbers—even marches—are being recorded. So are harmonica solos, barbershop harmonizing and tap-dances with band background.

There's no "Mademoiselle from Armentieres" for these men of '41. For example, the 115th infantry, a Maryland regiment, chose to make these recordings:

Marches by the regimental band: Choral numbers by the glee club; "Short'nin' Bread," sung by Private Charles Irwin, and "The Lord's Prayer," sung by Private Martin Willen.

Music here is regarded as typical of that popular in army ranks throughout the central and eastern sections of the country. Similar recordings will be made at camps in other sections. From all these will be selected the numbers for the soldiers' bid for musical posterity.

The recording at Fort Meade is under the direction of Captain Howard C. Bronson, music officer of the army's morale branch, with money provided by the citizens committee for the army and navy.

A rear wheel blowout is much more dangerous than one in a front tire because the front wheels are easier to control. Inspect your tires.

BATONS IN ACRE LOTS

NEW YORK—(AP)—Bandleader Sammy Kaye flew here to buy batons and wound up buying a whole forest. He orders batons in lots of 500 for his program, but lately they have been difficult to get. This time Kaye decided it would be cheaper to buy a small plot of white birch trees in Maine.

Dangerous Small Percentages

One fool or one criminal in a community of five hundred people would be no menace at all to the peace and security of the community. A community of 500 inhabitants could easily deal with one fool or with one criminal. The local blacksmith or any other husky citizen could handle that situation.

But one fool or one criminal out of every five hundred persons in a city of a hundred thousand inhabitants would amount to a total of two hundred fools or two hundred criminals. If those two hundred fools or those two hundred criminals should get together and organize, they could play havoc with the peace and the security of that municipality unless a counter organization of sufficient power were established to cope with them.

And in a nation of one hundred and thirty-one million inhabitants, a fool or a criminal in every five hundred persons, would total two hundred and sixty-two thousand fools or two hundred and sixty-two thousand criminals. If that great number of fools or of criminals should organize and work in unison, they could actually destroy our nation unless a sufficient percentage of good citizens should organize against them and control them.

There is a characteristic thing about fools and criminals—their natural tendency is to run in packs, in which each supplements and sustains the others.

In every nation there is a certain percentage of fools and criminals; and there is a still larger percentage of persons who are foolishly inclined and who are criminally inclined.

Persons who love our country and our form of government, and who desire to live in peace and security, must ever bear in mind the great menace to our nation from the small percentage of fools and criminals, and from the larger percentage of the foolishly inclined and the criminally inclined. They are a tremendous power, and by uniting their efforts they can place their representatives in positions of highly strategical importance.

The only way to control this deadly small minority is with a sufficiently large organization of sane, sound citizens.

A great weakness with the United States is that the better class of citizens permits small enterprising, artful minorities directed by cunning, ambitious, unprincipled men to play hob with our municipal, state and national welfare.

Manhattan
By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I haven't the faintest idea who holds the record at Loew's State, but for awhile Ben Bernie held it. Loew's State is an important motion picture and vaudeville theater on Broadway, and all of the big acts and many screen personalities and band leaders like to appear there.

Once, while Bernie was headlining the State, Al Rosen, the State's manager, went backstage to see him. "Bernie," he said, "you're within $4 of the record. Why don't you buy $4 worth of tickets and break the record."

Bernie was delighted. "By all means," he cried, "by all means."

Next night, Al wandered back to where a pleased Bernie was preparing to go on and said, "Ben, you're within $20 of breaking the record again. Why don't you buy $20 worth of tickets and break it."

"By all means," cried the maestro once more. "Don't keep coming back here just to ask me. . . . Buy 'em, I'll pay for 'em."

So Bernie broke the house record again.

The third night Rosen again wandered backstage but Bernie beat him to the punch. . . . "Go ahead, buy all the tickets necessary. . . . I want to set a real record here."

Al sank into a chair and bit off the end of one of Bernie's stogies. . . . "Well, if you insist. . . . But it's raining outside, it's a bad night, and you're $480 short of the mark."

"You know sump'n," piped Ben, "setting a house record two nights running is okay, but three nights—t'ell with it."

I was looking at a photograph of W. C. Fields, the comedian, today—a photograph he had autographed for Hy Gardner. . . . On it, Fields had written, "Hy, if I were a drinking man, I'd buy you a drink."

We got to talking about the comedian then and Hy told an interesting story—a story Fields himself had told him of a meeting he once had with the late Tex Rickard.

Fields was walking along the street one day and he ran into Tex. "W. C.," said Tex, "what are you doing these days?"

"I'm running a gambling house," Fields told him.

"W. C.," said Tex, "don't you know you can't win—that the percentages are against you. . . . That if you run an honest house, you'll lose?"

"How do you figure that?" Fields wanted to know.

"This way," said Tex. "If the customer gets ahead, he can always quit. You can't."

Fields thought that over. Two weeks later, as he admitted to Hy, he closed shop.

Our Children

CHILDREN NEED BOTH PARENTS

A child needs both parents. I believe that father should have his share in the baby right from the start. Usually he is shut out and quiet by his own desire. He is afraid to handle the little bundle lest he let it fall or perhaps injure it in some other way. He is content to peer at its blanket and go his way. Mother is in full charge.

Of course mother has the greatest share of the work in the beginning, but that ought not to shut father out completely. The baby is learning about the world and the people who make up his part of it. He learns to know his mother's hands, her voice, her way with him.

How about father? Some day father must come into the picture and the longer his appearance and influence are delayed the more difficult it will be for the child to know him and for him to know his child. Even if the only contribution father can make for the first few months is to hold the baby in his arms for a few minutes, and speak to it, he should make that gesture. The child needs a father.

Father ought to be the staunch friend in the background always. I say background because he rarely has time to stay forward in the child's mind. If the only idea a child gets of his father is that of provider, or executioner, or big boss of the family, he will be cheated out of a good share of his childhood's happiness.

He should know father as a friend and helper, somebody who stands by ready to boost, cheer, lead and advise, and the sooner he gets that view of his father the richer his whole existence will be. And father's too.

The father-child relationship is one of the richest life affords. It is within reach of every father, but comparatively few realize its importance until the time has gone by. It is not possible to ignore a child for sixteen years or so and then demand, expect, hope for, sympathetic understanding and affection from him. That relationship has to start when the children start or it won't start at all, as many a lonely father knows.

Mother has to help here. She must be willing, eager, to establish this father-and-child relationship. Sometimes she does not want to do so for one reason or another. Maybe she thinks father does not know how; maybe she thinks he will break the precious routine she has established with such care.

She may be right. But father can learn if she helps him and encourages him to do so, and surely the importance of father's relationship to the children is enough to make the effort even the sacrifice, if she feels that way about it, worth-while.

Of course father and mother must have agreed long ago on the family policy so there will be no disagreement between them as to how the child shall be reared. Both parents are needed to rear the child, both contributions are necessary. Mother usually makes hers in double measure. It is father who needs a chance, even a shove, to do his duty by his children.

Washington Daybook
By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON — Cuff-notes from the Senate's biggest debate of this session—the one on extension of selective service:

Senator Burton K. Wheeler's nervous habit of folding a sheaf of papers and then slamming them down on his desk in an emphasis of disgust.

The endless parade of soldiers who, in groups of four or five, filed into and out of the galleries during the days of debate (almost the first time since training started that soldiers have visited the galleries). The way they wriggled in their seats while Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts (opponent of extension) was expounding his theories of defense, pointing out that the navy and air corps made defense a life work, while the army was trying to build a manpower mechanical army with one-year, under-paid draftees.

The administration senator who made the same speech on three successive days.

The opinion of the majority of the press gallery that Senator Arthur H. Vandenburg, fighting the bill to the end, made the best speech of the debate.

O'Daniel Leaps In

The way brand-new Senator W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas bowled the Senate over by jumping into the thick of things before the ink was dry on his oath of office.

Twenty-seven hours after he had been sworn in, the ex-governor of Texas made his maiden speech, a 3,500-worder. (The late Senator Huey Long waited two days to make his debut on the floor and the senators I talked with couldn't remember any other who had so quickly broken the precedent of long silence. Some freshman senators never make a major speech during the first year.)

Although reading his speech and never making one gesture, the senator from Texas convinced everyone that he's no amateur at getting his ideas over verbally. His voice, without straining, carried right up into the spider-web temporary steel crossbeams holding up the sagged roof.

After spending 20-odd minutes explaining that he intended to support the president in all his constitutional duties; that he was for defense and the destruction of dictatorship even if it meant going to war, and thus warming the hearts of administration supporters, Senator O'Daniel turned the opposition's frowns to grins with a two-minute statement that he would not support extension of selective service training.

The new senator didn't rest there at breaking precedents either. The next day, he introduced an amendment to the bill under discussion. It had to do with labor on defense contracts. By Senator O'Daniel's own description, the amendment "breezed through the Senate faster than Hitler went through Holland."

The senator had his amendment reconsidered. It "breezed through" just as fast again. That was almost the end of business for the week—a practically jammed first week for a freshman senator.

When Is A Quorum?

Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri interrupting the proceedings for some minutes to deplore the fact that "with only seven or eight members on the floor, as anybody could easily see by the naked eye (there are such times), when a quorum call is denied on the ground that a quorum was conclusively presumed to be present"—because no actual business had been transacted since the last quorum call.

Senator Clark's complaint found little favor at the moment, but it will be of interest to all gallery visitors who find it a much less tedious job to count senators than empty chairs. On the other side is the explanation that if congressmen sat in their seats all day they would get precious little done, including preparation of speeches for the debate on extension of selective service.

HAROLD PEARY PAYS FOR RADIO STARDOM

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Harold Peary is paying for his radio stardom.

Peary, best known as Gildersleeve of the Fibber McGee and Molly programs, was thrilled when signed to star in a "Great Gildersleeve" series starting Sunday on NBC.

Then he got to figuring. He'll have to give up five other programs. Together, they paid more than he'll receive in one starring role.

REV. HOLLOWAY BACK

Rev. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Mrs. Holloway, who have been spending the month of August with relatives in Missouri, have returned to their home here. Rev. Holloway will preach at both services at the church Sunday. A cordial invitation to attend is extended all.

An outlay of $25,150 is represented in building permits issued at the city hall last week. The largest single permit was issued to Mrs. J. Powers for the erection of a brick veneer residence on Rochelle Avenue to cost $6,500. Mrs. S. L. Boatwright was granted a permit to build a residence costing $3,500 on South Second street. The permits in detail were: Charles Comeratti, Gordon avenue residence, costing $3,000; Robert Layton, two houses on Ouachita Avenue, costing $700 each; Ben Lieber, two houses on Ouachita avenue casting $400 each; Sarah Fletcher, Flynn street house, $1,250; Mrs. Donna Cook, two houses on Grammont street, $450 each; Frank Eason, house on DeSiard street, $300; E. Williams, house on 23rd street, $1,400; Ed Mosely, house on 24th street, $900; Mrs. L. Capson, house on Gordon avenue, $2,000; Douglas Page, remodeling house, Texas Avenue, $1,000; Tony Schooley, house on Jackson street, $1,200.

"Not so good," is Harry Prophit's verdict on present business conditions existing along the Mississippi gulf coast, where he ended a recent vacation. "Monroe looks might good to me," he said. "Down there realty values are inflated out of sight, or at least out of proportion to values. They've got nothing to back this up. Their retail stores don't compare with ours. Gulfport seems to have a future as a port, but outside of that it seems to me that the gulf coast development lacks a substantial support which it must have for solid prosperity," he concluded.

MADE UP TO KILL
by Kelley Roos

Chapter 26

Tom, Belligerent

"YOU told Tommy about you and Steve?" Jeff prompted.

"Yes," Carol said. "He was terribly upset. He talked like a dramatic little boy. He said he'd kill me, he said he'd kill Steve too. But he didn't mean it any more than if he were a kid speaking some kind of piece in school."

"Pretty progressive school," Jeff muttered.

"I almost had to shove him out. And then the next morning at rehearsal he came to me first thing. He said all the things that you'd have to say when you've been drunk and acted like an idiot. And he apologized all over the place."

"And wished you happiness?"

Carol smiled wryly. "No. He didn't go that far. But I asked him not to tell anyone about Steve and me and he said he wouldn't. And he kept his word too."

Jeff stood up. "You damn little dope! I guess they'll have to riddle you with bullets before you finally believe that the finger's on you. You've been so close to death three times that you could have heard it whiz by if you'd listened, but you still think no one wants to kill you. For God's sake, what do you think all this business is about? Do you think it's a practical joke?"

"It wasn't Tommy," she said stubbornly, almost crying.

"No, it wasn't Tommy. It wasn't anybody! It's all done with mirrors!" He was yelling at her, but she met his angry gaze and didn't flinch an eyelash. He turned and howled at me, "How about those phone calls?"

"Amelia was home. I recognized her voice. I didn't get anyone else."

"Neither did I. The thing was a fizzle except for eliminating Amelia. And that's a great stride in the right direction. I was sure that sniping out of a hotel window was Amelia's meat." He plopped down in a chair in disgust.

"Jeff, things are beginning to look a bit thick for Tommy. I mean besides his threatening Carol." I told him about Tommy and his message that he was not to be disturbed at the hotel. Jeff sat like a ramrod listening.

"And you're sure he wasn't there?"

"I know it. I let them page him all over the hotel. He wasn't in the building, there's no doubt of that."

"I guess we'll go and have a chat with Tom Neilson."

Carol sat up wtih a jerk. "Please, please don't go to Tommy. He'd hate it if he thought you knew about him."

Jeff said sarcastically, "We're not going to like it very much having a corpse around the apartment."

She had him by both arms, pleading with him. "Then don't tell Steve about it. Promise me that. He's got enough to worry about and this would upset him so. Please, Jeff!"

"I won't tell him. Stop shaking."

The door banged open and a fair-sized mob poured in and took over. Peterson was there, and two policemen in uniform and several others whom I remembered having seen at the theater the night Eve North was murdered.

They began milling around, examining the fragments of my picture on the floor, digging in the wall for the buried bullet, photographing every conceivable thing in the room. My life from this point on promised to have very little to do with that thing called privacy. I sat close to Carol and held her hand while she answered the barrage of questions they fired at her.

We all heard the pounding of the steps in the hall before Steve Brown, breathless and white-faced, burst into the room. For a moment he didn't see Carol and his eyes searched the room in terror. Then Carol ran to him. He clasped her tight in his arms and neither spoke. They stood clinging to each other and there was a long, choking sob from Carol.

Jeff tapped me on the shoulder. "Come on, we've got some work to do."

I looked at Steve and Carol again. He had drawn her into the corner by the kitchen and wedged her there, standing over her like a bulldog. "If he guards her this assiduously from the police," I thought, "he ought to do all right by any stray murderers who happen around." I grabbed my wraps and, nodding to Jeff, followed him out.

The last thing I heard was Peterson's voice: "All right, Mr. Brown. I want to ask you a few questions."

No Alibi

TOM NEILSON glowered at us over the rim of a rye highball. "Who the hell cares why I wasn't in my room? The Bristol isn't a girl's dormitory. I don't have to sign out every time I decide to go someplace."

For two hours Jeff and I had been tearing around Times Square and we had finally traced Tom to a bar on Forty-sixth Street. Now, as if finding him hadn't been enough to get a girl down, he was bent on being difficult.

Looking steadily at Tom, Jeff said: "Nobody gives a damn right now why you weren't in your room except Haila and me. But in an hour or so there will be about ten cops who are going to find out or else."

"Why?" Tom was belligerent.

Jeff gave it to him bluntly. "Because after you left word at your hotel desk that you were not to be disturbed someone took a shot at Carol from the sixth floor of the Esquador Hotel."

Tom's empty glass went down on the table with a resounding bang. "Was she . . ."

Jeff said: "No. She's all right. They missed her."

Tom shook the ice around in his glass and drained it. "Carol leads a charmed life. She ought to go with a circus. Poisoned, stabbed and shot at, and still in the pink of condition." He beckoned the waiter and asked for another rye highball.

"Why did you leave word that you weren't to be disturbed when you had no intention of staying in your room?"

"I had every intention of staying in my room. I didn't want to be disturbed because I was going to take a nap."

Jeff smiled. "You're not going to tell us that you were in your room. That you were so sound asleep you didn't hear the phone."

"Oh, for God's sake! No, I didn't go to bed at all. Almost as soon as I got to my room Tony Eldridge came in. He told me that Max Shuman was sending a company of Peter and Paul to London. I stage managed the New York production and he thought I'd have a chance to get the job again. So I went out in a hurry. I didn't stop to call the operator and tell her. Why should I? And that's all there is to it."

"Where is Shuman's office?"

"On Fifty-third, just east of Madison."

"What time were you there?"

"I got there about five. Shuman was out. I talked to his secretary for a while and left about five-fifteen."

"Five-fifteen, huh?" Jeff rooted around in the little wicker basket and found me a potato chip. "And the shot came through the window at exactly five-thirty."

Still In Love

THERE was alarm in Tommy's voice when he spoke again. "Look, Jeff, I know what you're thinking! Shuman's office is only a couple of blocks from the Esquador. I could have got up there in time to take that shot at Carol!"

"What did you do, Tommy?"

"Well, I . . ." He hesitated. "Damn it! This would happen to me. Well, I got here about six-thirty. On my way here I stopped at a bar on Broadway and had a couple of drinks." Jeff opened his mouth and Tommy said angrily, "No, I can't prove I was there! I didn't see anyone I knew. And the place was jammed; I don't think the bartender or anyone would remember me. What the hell are you trying to do to me, Jeff!"

"Nothing. I just wish you had an alibi for five-thirty this afternoon."

Tommy jumped to his feet, upsetting the glass the waiter had placed before him. "Do you mean to say I'm going to be mixed up in this thing because I was going around minding my own business? What the hell, Jeff! Listen, I didn't take a shot at Carol. I didn't try to poison her and I didn't stab Eve North. I don't want to kill Carol! For God's sake, why should I?"

"You said you were going to," I said.

He sat as quickly as he had risen, but much more quietly. He looked from one to the other of us and his lips were very white. He said bitterly, "So she told you about that."

I rushed to Carol's defense. "No, she didn't tell us! She never breathed a word of it and wild horses probably couldn't have dragged it from her until we already knew. It happens that you were overheard. By a very helpful next door neighbor."

"What did Carol say?"

"Just that she saw you were falling in love with her and she was in love with Steve Brown. So she told you and you blew up and threatened her. And you needn't bother explaining that you were drunk and in a temper and didn't mean it because she's already done that for you."

"I'd rather not talk about it. Let Carol do the talking."

"What about you and Alice McDonald, Tommy?"

"There's nothing about Alice McDonald and me except that we've known each other a long time. We're good friends."

"She knew about you and Carol, didn't she? And she didn't like it. It couldn't have been that she was jealous of Carol?"

"She didn't like it because . . ." He snapped off. "It's none of your damn business why she didn't like it. But it wasn't because she was jealous."

"You're still crazy about Carol Blanton?"

Tom scowled down at the table. "I guess so. Yeah. I suppose I am. But I'll get over it."

PROPOSES HIGHER CHILD'S PENSION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, said today it was "difficult to explain" reports from the various states showing that aged persons receive greater monthly payments from public assistance programs than dependent children.

According to the state reports, he announced, more than half of the aged and blind receive public assistance of $20 or more monthly, while only 15 per cent of dependent children receive as much as $20.

"While the higher level of payments to blind people may be accounted for by the special services needed by sightless persons," McNutt commented, "the difference in payments for the aged and for dependent children is more difficult to explain.

"Requirements for food, clothes, shelter, and other basic living expenses would seem to be as great for children as for old people. Moreover, since children need the care and guidance of a parent or other adult, the amount of their allowance may also have to cover the needs of these other persons in the home."

He made no specific recommendations for changing the systems of benefits.

Altogether, he reported, approximately 3,000,000 needy men, women and children, including over 2,000,000 aged, 55,000 blind and 900,000 dependent children, receive aid under the federal-state program for public assistance.

LABOR LABORING

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Labor is so busy laboring the Labor day parade has been called off. "So many are tied up with national defense jobs," explained a spokesman, "we decided to forego any celebration."

REDS' PLANES STILL ACTIVE

ing German columns and behind the German lines as well.

The Russian raid on the east Prussian city of Konigsberg yesterday is a case in point. At the same time Russian planes claimed to have sunk two German transports in the Baltic.

Significance is attached to the failure of the Germans to continue their air attacks on Moscow. Leningrad, threatened for weeks, has put up a successful resistance with the help of the Red air force.

Contributing to the Russian air strength is the fact that the high command has had no worry over the replacement of personnel lost in combat. No evidence has appeared that such replacements will be a problem in the months to come.

BELIEVE NAZIS BATTLING WITH FLEEING SHIPS

was said that the city's garrison was preparing to attempt a mass escape by sea.

Presumably the capture of the 22 loaded transports and destruction of Soviet warships meant that the escape was frustrated, at least in part.

With the fall of the port, German troops now hold control of all Baltic territory except a few islands.

Along with the Nazi capture of Dnieperopetrovsk (population 500,600), marking the end of the great battle of the Dnieper river bulge, the Russians conceded that German assault troops had penetrated to the approaches of Leningrad.

Nazi military dispatches said that German divisions were within 32 miles of the old czarist capital, Russia's second biggest city, and that the Finns were steadily advancing from the north.

Tersely, the Red army command reported only that Soviet troops "fought the enemy along the entire front."

Russian front-line dispatches, however, said Red armies were battling fiercely to save Kiev, the Ukraine capital, on the west bank of the Dnieper river, while Red sailors and soldiers trapped in the siege-girt Black sea port of Odessa fought to execute Marshal Semeon Budyenny's order for a defense "to the last drop of blood."

The fall of Dnieperopetrovsk, cutting off the production of a large part of the Soviet's cast iron and steel, set in motion a new phase of the vast struggle as the Red armies established positions on the east bank of the river.

Soviet Spokesman S. A. Lozovsky said the giant concrete Dnieper dam, the largest in Europe and the pride of Russia's first five-year plan, had been blown up in line with Premier Stalin's "scorched earth" policy to prevent the Germans from using it.

On the air front in the west, the British remained on the offensive by carrying out a new series of overnight attacks on Duisburg and followed these with a daylight assault on the Nazi-occupied French coast. The Germans claimed they downed 30 British aircraft in 24 hours ending this morning.

Only a few German planes were reported over England during the night, though some bombs were dropped in East Anglia, causing a small number of casualties.

In South America, an Argentine congressional committee investigating anti-Argentine activities, accused German Ambassador Edmund von Thermann of receiving money from German welfare organizations and using it for purposes "foreign to his diplomatic character."

The committee said it had evidence there were 60,000 Germans in Argentina organized into cells and under oath to obey Adolf Hitler and his Nazi chiefs "to the death."

FEAR IN IRAN BEFORE TRUCE IS DESCRIBED

were dashed when the Russian planes appeared in a cloudless sky at 7:30 a.m. today after two blackout alarms during the night.

Less than three hours later, newsboys were shouting the news that hostilities had ended at 8 a.m.

Before the news came, foreign diplomats had been rounding up their nationals in the interests of safety.

The 60 Americans in Teheran had been ordered to gather at the legation with bedrolls and foodstuffs.

British, Germans and Italians had been assembled since the start of the invasion in legation camps, but some still in their homes this morning were summoned hastily after the air raid.

Premier Furanghi, a famous Iranian philosopher and once president of the League of Nations assembly, completed meanwhile his new cabinet, which was sworn in at once before parliament.

Furanghi, who served as premier from 1932 to 1935, named as his foreign minister Ali Soheily, whose wife is a Russian and who helped patch up diplomatic relations between Iran and the United States in 1938. There were no other important changes in the cabinet.

F. D. R. NAMES SUPER-BOARD ON WAR WORK

appointment of a one-man head for the arms effort, with the broad powers that Bernard M. Baruch wielded as chairman of the war industries board of World war days.

One of the first important comments, however, proved favorable. Alvan MacAuley, president of the Automobile Manufacturers association, said that the setup appeared "to give us the consolidation of leadership we have needed from the start." Efforts to date, he added, have been "handicapped by lack of supreme leadership."

The new board was empowered to deal primarily with the supply question, but its scope evidently extended to numerous other problems which have given rise to complaint.

To it Mr. Roosevelt named: Vice-President Wallace; William S. Knudsen, director general of OPM; Sidney Hillman, co-director of OPM; Secretary of War Stimson; Secretary of Navy Knox; Leon Henderson, head of the office of price administration and civilian supply, and Harry L. Hopkins, special presidential assistant in charge of the lease-lend program.

For executive director of the board, the president selected Donald M. Nelson, former Sears, Roebuck and company executive who has been serving OPM as director of purchases.

Many officials were inclined to look on Nelson as the coming No. 1 man of the new organization. They pointed out that the vice-president's numerous other duties would not permit him to be a full-time chairman.

The office of production management will continue in charge of the huge arms production program, but with some staff and structural changes.

One of the major personnel changes was Nelson's appointment to succeed Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., as head of OPM's priorities division it is this division that will see to the distribution of available supplies according to the super-board's policies.

Stettinius, former chairman of the United States Steel corporation, was shifted from OPM to the post of lend-lease administrator, although the complete aid program will continue under the general supervision of Hopkins.

John D. Biggers, until now director of OPM's division of production, was assigned to London with the diplomatic rank of minister. There he will work with W. Averell Harriman in handling aid-to-Britain problems.

NEGRO ADMITS RAPE-SLAYINGS IN WASHINGTON

found dead in her apartment here less than a month after she had come to the city as a bride from Kansas City, Mo.

Both the Strieff and the Abramowitz slayings occurred in the residential northwest section of the city where there are embassies, parks, stately homes and modern apartments. In each case intensive manhunts were instituted, but all clues proved valueless, although detectives noted a similarity in the way the young women were strangled.

Then came the rape-slaying of Mrs. Evelyn Andersen, 26, whose body was found August 4 in a Bronx lot. It was this case that led to the apprehension of the negro now in custody, and Superintendent Kelly said this was the first of the slayings on which a confession was obtained.

Mrs. Andersen's wrist watch was missing when her body was found, detectives said, but a search located it in a pawn shop in New York. It was then traced to a woman who pawned it and police alleged that she had received it from the man arrested here at his home here early yesterday.

Superintendent Kelly said the sex slayings covered by the series of confessions took place between December 1, 1939, and the present month. In addition to the slayings, Kelly said, the prisoner had confessed to four other rapings here and two attempted attacks. These involved negro women, he said.

Assistant District Attorney Francis X. O'Brien of the Bronx, who flew here last night with other New York police officials to participate in questioning the suspect, turned him over to district authorities when the confession which Kelly announced in the Andersen case was followed by the subsequent statements which the superintendent said he obtained on the Strieff and Abramowitz cases.

disqualifies him as a licensee, but he is the head man, nevertheless. And lest it be thought that I am speaking from hearsay in describing this joint as a joint, I may say that I, personally, have been solicited by a captain of waiters there on behalf of the prostitutes who sit for company in the shadows and that I have seen the tables in the playroom where the gambling is done when the heat is off.

The Colony club is a dump under criminal ownership and assurance of this fact may impart a special thrill to the radio audience the next time the announcer's mooing notes advise the unseen multitude that they are listening to music by one of Jimmy Petrillo's union orchestras from the beautiful and exclusive Colony club on Chicago's famous Gold Coast.

This Circella, or Dean, has been wanted as a witness in the trial of Browne and Bioff and without his testimony the case might be lost, but he has disappeared from his dump and from all his familiar underworld hangouts and the F. B. I. has been unable to find him. It is not customary for Circella, or Dean, to disappear at this time of the year and he usually can be found without difficulty at any season, either in Chicago or with the rest of the criminal scum in Miami, Fla., during the hibernating period of the union racketeers, such as Umbrella Mike Boyle, Browne and Max Pollack, alias Caldwell, lately caught robbing a clerk's union under an A. F. of L. charter.

Candidly, Circella is on the lam and yet William Green, with a membership of four million, according to his claim, has made no appeal to his organization to dig up key witnesses in the prosecution of men charged with preying on labor and thus discrediting the union cause. I specifically refrain from charging Green with participation in the conspiracy, but submit, nevertheless, that the existence of a conspiracy among Browne, Bioff and Dean, to hamper a prosecutor performing his duty according to Green's oft-repeated demand, is too apparent to permit of any doubt.

Neither am I prepared to believe that the F. B. I. is exerting itself fully, because this failure does not consist with the reputation of the F. B. I. or with J. Edgar Hoover's boastful personal and departmental publicity. The department of justice is seriously infected with politics and there are political interests which would suffer serious embarrassment if Dean were turned up and the whole story were told of the union relations and the politics of the movie industry.

That consideration aside, however, we still have Green exhorting prosecutors to punish union racketeers, while a notorious powerful criminal holding official credentials from one of his unions is hidden lest he be forced to reveal the vicious history of the union governed by Gangster Browne, who sits with Green as a member of the executive council of the A. F. of L.

margin of the page. One of the margin names was von Thermann's. Another was that of Gottfried Sandstede, German embassy press attache, who secretly fled the country in a German airplane a few days ago while the committee was seeking him for questioning.

It was charged that Germans in Argentina, in order to avoid reprisals, were forced to take this oath:

"In spite of having gone to local schools and having performed by profession in local circles I am a German."

Another oath was:

"We swear to thee, Adolf Hitler, fuehrer and chancellor of the Reich, our courage and loyalty. We promise obedience to the death to you and to the chiefs you appoint, so help us God."

The committee reported that Germans were individually numbered and registered in Berlin for punishment if they failed to aid the Nazi organization.

Notes were sent to members who did not attend meetings and those who failed often had to justify their absence by presenting medical certificates from the German hospital, the committee added.

Documents showed, said the report that Germans were spied on to test their allegiance to Hitler.

In another development police authorities announced that four men had been arrested on charges of photographing and mapping Argentine defenses for an unnamed foreign power. They were listed as Heriberto Evans, photographer; Dr. Alejandro Claisse, Argentine lawyer and owner of the plane from which the photographs allegedly were made; Manuel Dobarro, and Cirilo Tayior.

FEAR FELT FOR LIFE OF LAVAL

Colette's home and relatives were summoned to a local police station for questioning.

Police pressed a thorough search for possible accomplices and pushed complete investigations of each of Colette's statements. Three armed anti-Soviet volunteers arrested yesterday were still held.

Authorities feared that others, like Colette, may have joined the anti-Bolshevist legion solely to get close enough to French leaders favoring collaboration with Germany to harm them.

It was learned that Colette at least formerly was a member of the Fascist Croix de Feu party of Colonel Francois de la Rocque. Furthermore there has been no proof that he had switched over to the Communist party.

Nevertheless it was announced that Colette will be tried by the new "Red" section of the appellate court, set up especially to try Communists, and that the investigation of the assassination attempt still will be aimed at uncovering possible Communist links.

The presence of German military police at indictment proceedings last night was unexplained. They cross-examined Colette closely, although theoretically the new court takes its cases out of the hands of the German authorities and the Germans issued a statement indicating that the shooting was an affair to be settled among Frenchmen alone.

Laval was reported to have asked mercy for Colette on the grounds that he had been misled.

The Vichy ambassador to the occupied zone, Fernand de Brinon, attacked the American press and radio today in connection with the Laval-Deat assassination attempt.

He said in a broadcast that "the stirring up of Moscow, London and Boston radios had done their work" in bringing about the shooting.

The Caen investigation showed that Colette for several years was engaged in extreme rightist political activity and that he then joined the navy. He took part in the Dunkerque action aboard the warship Niger, and when it was sunk he was picked up by another vessel and taken to England.

He returned to Caen shortly afterward and was there at the time of the German advance into France in June of 1940. He went to the channel port of Ouistreham, where he tried to embark for England. Failing, he returned to Caen.

Colette's parents said that as far as they knew he had gone to Paris to seek work this week, and that he had not seemed interested in politics for some time.

hasten improvement of Iranian transportation facilities to implement the shipment of supplies from Britain and the United States to Russia.

A British communique issued in Simla on yesterday's developments in Iran said Iranian envoys met the British forward troops and notified them that their ruler, Reza Shah Pahlavi, had ordered cessation of hostilities.

It said Indian troops in the southern sector occupied Ahwaz, which is about 90 miles airline inland from the head of the Gulf of Persia. Royal Air Force fighters paced the advance.

The announcement also said that a general shortage of foodstuffs existed throughout Iran and that arrangements had been made to send 700 tons of wheat into the southern sector occupied by imperial forces.

The food shortage, it was said, was such that local inhabitants complained that Iranian troops had been begging for supplies owing to short rations.

HAM IMPROVING

Officer Floyd K. Ham, veteran city policeman, who was critically injured in an altercation last week with a negro, was reported improving Friday morning by attendants at Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic. Ham received a fractured skull when the negro resisted arrest and with a surprise blow threw him to the pavement, his head striking the curbing.

Monroe Women Are Air-Minded

Girls And Women Take To Air Travel For Pleasure And Business Purposes

Right in step with a nation which is becoming more and more "air-minded" daily are the girls and women of Monroe. There's nothing old-fashioned about them. The day when it was expected of a member of the feminine sex to shudder and turn pale when airplanes were mentioned is gone forever, the pilots at Selman field report.

Several Monroe girls, not content with merely being occasional passengers in the air, have taken a pilot's training course and now sit behind the controls themselves. Among these most enthusiastic of women pilots are Miss Johnette Register, Miss Olive Lusk, Miss Mary V. Beard and Miss Carrie Mae Stevenson.

There are many others, however, who frequently go up with a friend who has a pilot's license although they, themselves, do not fly. It is nothing unusual to see Miss Adelaide Parker or Miss Lenora Airoldi "taking off" with one of their pilot friends. They are only two of the women who crowd about the airport and accompany one of the pilots on his flights to add flying hours to his time. Sunday is the busiest day for such air-passengers, and Ralph Kuethe, Carl Guinn, Tommy Wyatt and J. W. Bain are seldom allowed to fly alone.

Yet these pleasure-seekers are not the only women in this city who have taken to the air. There are many who use this method of travel for business trips. Especially outstanding are those mothers who have found it the quickest way to visit their sons who are in the army for a long week-end, with a minimum of the time spent in traveling.

Mrs. Katie Ladart is home after a three-week visit with Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Fulco of Shreveport, La.

'Eat Your Way To Health'

Is a slogan worth your consideration. This liver and potato loaf with tomato sauce and buttered yellow turnips is a passport to more abundant health. Rich in iron and phosphorus and vitamins B and G, liver is on the nutritionists' "must" list, but it is often a problem to get all the family really to enjoy it. And here's a bit of shopping advice: Lamb liver is just as nutritious as other liver, it is very economical, and the flavor is as fine as the higher priced kinds of liver. For this loaf, mix 2 pounds ground, cooked lamb liver, 2 cups of finely diced cooked potatoes, 1-4 cup of chopped onion, 1 egg and 1 teaspoon salt. Pan fly slowly in 2 tablespoons lard. Turn onto a hot platter and serve with a well-seasoned tomato sauce.

Chicken Pie

Prepare Cloverbloom fowl as for stewed chicken. When done, remove bones from chicken and cut meat into pieces. Add to chicken gravy. One cup of peas, 1-2 cup carrots and 1-2 green pepper may also be added to mixture. Place in one large or several individual casseroles and cover tops with thin biscuit crust or pie crust. Bake 25-30 minutes, or until crust browns.

Grapefruit, beef loaf, vegetables, whole-wheat bread, fruit and milk make a nutritious dinner for this mechanic's family.

Stewed Chicken With Dumplings

Place 3 to 3 1-2 pound Cloverbloom stewing chicken in stewing kettle with 2 teaspoons salt and hot water to cover. Cover and simmer for 2 hours or until very tender.

Thicken gravy by mixing 2 tablespoons flour with 3-4 cup cold water and stir it into the hot broth. Drop in dumplings, cover and let steam for 15 minutes. Add more salt to gravy if needed.

Dumplings: Mix 2 cups sifted flour with 4 teaspoons baking powder and 1-2 teaspoon salt. Add 7-8 cup milk all at once, stirring only enough to dampen flour. Drop by teaspoonfuls into hot chicken gravy, allowing dumplings to rest on meat. Cover closely and let simmer for 15 minutes without removing cover. Serve at once.

Glorified Hamburgers

Mix 1-2 cup fine dry bread crumbs, 1-2 cup milk, and add 1 1-2 tablespoons chopped onion, 2 teaspoons salt and 1-4 teaspoon pepper. Add 1 1-2 lbs. Armour's Branded Ground Beef, 1-2 lb. fresh ground pork. Shape into very flat patties and fry quickly in a little butter turning when browned. Five to six minutes should completely cook these if made large and flat before cooking. Serve on split toasted buns with tomato and onions. Serves 6.

Fruit Left-Overs Are Used To Make Fresh Fruit Recipes

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
(NEA Service Staff Writer)

A few left-over berries, a little juice, the rind of an orange, a small portion of stewed prunes or other dried fruit—all these can be turned into excellent fruit dishes and drinks.

Fruit Muffins

Two cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup sugar, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, well beaten, 3 tablespoons melted butter or other fat, 1 cup diced fruit or berries.

Sift flour and measure. Then sift dry ingredients together. Combine liquid ingredients and add to dry mixture. Fold in fruit, mixing only enough to blend well. Bake in greased muffin tins about 25 minutes in moderately hot oven (400° F). If canned fruit is used, drain thoroughly before adding to batter.

Fruit Juice Sherbet
(1 Quart)

Three cups fruit juice or syrup, juice 2 lemons, juice 1 orange, pinch slat, 2 unbeaten egg whites, sugar to taste.

Mix all ingredients together. Place in hand freezer. Pack with 8 cups crushed ice to 1 cup rock salt. Turn evenly until frozen. Remove dasher. Repack and stand one hour before serving.

Fruit Juice Pudding Sauce

One cup sugar, 1 1-2 tablespoons cornstarch, few grains salt, 1-2 cup boiling water, 1 cup fruit juice, either fresh or canned.

Mix cornstarch, salt and sugar. Add boiling water and boil 5 minutes. Cool and then add fruit juice, plus a little lemon juice.

Fruited Cup Custards

Three eggs, 1-2 cup sugar, pinch salt, 3 cups scalded milk, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, grated lemon rind, 1-2 cup stewed or preserved fruit.

Beat eggs, add sugar, salt and lemon rind. Pour on hot milk. Cool slightly. Add vanilla. Place a little of the fruit in bottom of each custard cup. Fill the cups with custard mixture, set in pan of hot water, and bake in slow oven (300° F.) for about 40 minutes, or until custard is firm. Chill before serving. Turn out on serving plates and serve with fruit sauce.

MENU

BREAKFAST: Honey dew melon with lemon juice, oatmeal griddle cakes, syrup, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Dried beef on "enriched" bread toast, mixed greens salad, peanut cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Oxtail stew, baked potatoes, green corn, top onions and raw carrot sticks, fruited cup custards with fruit sauce, coffee, milk.

All-Bran Biscuit

½ cup All-Bran
¾ cup buttermilk
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
1-3 cup shortening

Soak All-Bran in buttermilk. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and soda together. Cut in shortening until mixture is like coarse cornmeal. Add soaked All-Bran; stir until dough follows fork around bowl. Turn onto floured board, knead lightly a few seconds; roll or pat to ½-inch thickness and cut with floured cutter. Bake on lightly greased pan in hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 12 minutes.

Yield: 12 biscuit (2½ inches in diameter).

Note: Sweet milk recipe—If sweet milk is used instead of buttermilk, omit soda and increase baking powder to 3 teaspoons.

A Supper Special

1 pound ground round steak
¼ pound ground salt pork
1 tablespoon lard
1 small onion
8 ounces spaghetti
1 No. 3 can (4 cups) tomatoes
1 No. 2 can (2 cups) peas
1 cup ripe olives
¼ pound aged American cheese

Brown the minced onion in the lard. Add the meat. Stir and cook about 15 minutes. Cook the spaghetti in boiling water. Drain. Add to meat. Add tomatoes, peas, and half the olives, chopped. Heat. Stir in half the grated cheese and pour in greased baking dish. Cover with remaining grated cheese. Bake in a hot oven (400°F.) about 20 minutes or until the cheese melts. Garnish with remaining sliced olives.

Giblet Dressing For Chicken, Turkey, Or Capon

Cut giblets fine and brown in frying pan with 1-4 cup Cloverbloom butter. Add 1-2 cup chopped celery, 1 tablespoon chopped onion and 2 teaspoons salt. Add 3 cups small bread cubes which have been toasted lightly in the oven, and 1-4 cup hot water. Stuff lightly into bird. Use three times amount for turkey.

Washing Painted Walls. When washing walls that are painted, put a little household ammonia in warm water and use white soap. Change the water as often as it becomes dirty.

FULL REVIEW OF JAP, U. S. STATUS SEEN

let slip no hint of what Prince Konoye said or suggested in his personal message to President Roosevelt.

Neither did the Tokyo announcement divulge any details of the special communication.

However, Iichi Kishi, a government spokesman at the Japanese capital, said any conversations between Admiral Nomura and President Roosevelt certainly would embrace a discussion of shipments of United States materials to Russia—shipments which Nippon fears eventually might be used against her.

Secretary Hull disclosed that the Japanese ambassador was expected to participate in another similar talk, or possibly a series of discussions, designed to clarify the situations which have arisen from conflicting policies of the two great powers which flank the Pacific.

No date was set for a follow-up conference, and diplomats assumed that none would be arranged until the president had drafted his reply to Prince Konoye.

Since the Japanese premier made the unusual gesture of communicating directly with President Roosevelt, the intensely interested diplomatic observers envisaged the possibility of some spectacular suggestion for a conference designed to clarify the tense situation in the far east.

The simplest interpretation of the potentialities of the Japanese premier's message was that Prince Konoye wished to set the diplomatic stage for a series of conferences between the president, secretary of state, and the Japanese ambassador to explore thoroughly the possibilities of an eventual peaceful agreement on conflicting policies.

If such talks failed to produce results they could be discontinued without detrimental results to either the United States or Japan.

Within the realm of possibilities, one informed diplomat said, was that Prince Konoye, taking a leaf from President Roosevelt's own book, may have suggested a personal meeting "somewhere in the Pacific," patterned after the historic conference between the president and Prime Minister Churchill "somewhere in the Atlantic."

Another possibility was that Prince Konoye may have suggested a conference of the Pacific nations—the United States, Japan, Great Britain, Soviet Russia, the Netherlands and China—to which might also be invited Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, the Philippines and possibly French Indo-China.

A conference of Pacific nations, it was said, might be able to achieve a satisfactory settlement of problems through an all-inclusive pact, or a series of pacts, modeled after the nine-power treaty which, for some years at least, served to maintain peace in the Pacific.

In view of the deep-seated differences in American and Japanese policies—stemming largely from Japanese ambitions to expand southward—there was acknowledgement that any general settlement presented innumerable difficulties, since the United States has ruled out anything that smacks of appeasement.

Failure to achieve such a settlement would still leave opportunity, it was pointed out, for partial adjustments of some of the questions which have produced a strain on relations.

Those efforts, it was said, might take the direction of attempting mutual concessions on the freezing of assets, resumption of some shipping services, or liberalization of restrictions which have caused a virtual cessation of trade between the two nations.

State department officials said, however, that there was little likelihood that any official statement of the American government's attitude on any of the questions raised by the Konoye message would be issued pending the progress of the Roosevelt-Hull-Nomura talks.

JAPANESE OFFICIALS IN EMERGENCY MEETING

TOKYO, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Premier Prince Konoye's message to President Roosevelt was prompted by "the very delicate relations existing between Japan and the United States following outbreak of the Russian-German war," the Japanese news agency Domei said tonight, and it reaffirmed Japan's desire to establish a "co-prosperity sphere" and permanent Pacific peace.

The Domei comment was made after all members of the cabinet and some of the highest military officials of the nation had held an emergency meeting to discuss American-Japanese relations following delivery of the Konoye message to Roosevelt in Washington yesterday.

Domei said:

"Well-informed circles are of the opinion that what Japan is aiming at under the prevailing complex international situation is disposal of the China affair and construction of the East Asia co-prosperity sphere with the ultimate object of ushering in an era of permanent peace in the Pacific, and in consideration of the very delicate relations existing between Japan and the United States following outbreak of the Russian-German war Prince Konoye conveyed Japan's firm conviction on this broad viewpoint to President Roosevelt."

The important commercial newspaper Chugai indicated a belief the American-Japanese crisis could be settled amicably.

"From time immemorial," said Chugai, "There has been no problem which could not be settled by mutual conversations between Japan and the United States."

Earlier a brief official announcement said that the Konoye message outlined "the imperial government's attitude toward the Pacific situation."

Government spokesmen said that the message was intended as "an examination of the cause of trouble in the delicate situation between Japan and the United States" and that shipments of oil and war supplies to Russia via the Far East undoubtedly would be included in any conversations with the United States.

(A Domei broadcast reported on the continuing Japanese theme of Japan's encirclement by the "ABCD" powers—America, Britain, China, and Dutch East Indies.)

(Asahi's New York correspondent, as quoted in a Domei broadcast, also warned the Japanese that the United States is adhering to Secretary of State Hull's 1937 declaration of non-recognition of conquests in China and is sticking to aid to Chungking as immovable policies. "An insurmountable gap separates Japan and the United States as long as the China incident continues * * * that gap is further widened by Japan's participation in the three-power alliance," he wrote.)

Iichi Kishi, a government spokesman, said earlier today Japan had made representations to Soviet Russia and the United States over shipment of American gasoline to the Russian port of Vladivostok solely "from a Japanese point of view."

"But that is not to say," he added, "that we do not consider axis interests as well."

Kishi said any conversations between President Roosevelt and Admiral Nomura certainly would include discussion of shipment of United States materials to Russia which Japan fears might eventually be used against her.

SLAYER FRIENDS WILL DIE TODAY

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Two convicted murderers are to die together in San Quentin's gas chamber today because they formed a close friendship in condemned row and did not want to be parted in death.

Eldon R. Hawk, 26, a native of Neosho, Mo., and John W. Lininger, 40, formerly of Montana, first avoided and then courted death—together. They made and then withdrew applications for executive clemency. Then, at Hawk's request, Governor Culbert L. Olson re-set his execution date to coincide with Lininger's.

Last night, Governor Olson reassured the two he would not interfere with their joint execution. In effect, he refused a request by the widow of the man Hawk was convicted of killing.

Mrs. Lee W. Arris told the governor that both she and her husband were opposed to capital punishment. She insisted that Hawk be given life imprisonment instead of death for the holdup-murder of her husband at Knights Landing last fall.

The threat to his desire to die with Lininger, who was convicted of putting Louis E. Jette, 28, to death with rat poison near Red Bluff after a quarrel growing out of immoral relations, aroused Hawk to angry protest.

"The law reads death for my crime and I want it," he wrote the governor. "I'm either executed August 29 or I do it myself."

LAND RESPONSE REPORTED GOOD

Most Of Land Needed For Preliminary Maneuvers Already Available

The majority of landowners in the upper parishes already have responded to Uncle Sam's call for more land on which to train his boys in the grim art of warfare, Major Niels I. Poulsen, army representative in charge of land agreements here, announced Friday. Practically all the large corporation tracts have been made available, he said.

Numerous isolated tracts have not been signed over for government use, Major Poulsen stated, stressing the importance of even small plots of land. Owners were urged to return forms immediately on receipt, even after September 1.

The necessity of obtaining the land—at once—is seen when the full magnitude of the gigantic games to be carried out in this section are considered, Major Poulsen stated. Some 200,000 troops are scheduled to move into the territory of upper Louisiana from the Texas line through Morehouse parish, he indicated. Approximately 40,000 vehicles will be used for the maneuvers, expected to begin September 1 and last about six days.

Major Poulsen compared the coming influx of soldiers to the transposition of a city of 200,000 persons into a new location. The troops will outnumber the adult population of the upper parishes, including Shreveport, he estimated, and the vehicles will outnumber those used in North Louisiana in normal times. Every type of military vehicle from motorcycles and jeeps to tanks and field artillery will be brought in, Major Poulsen indicated.

These 200,000 men and officers must be bivouacked. Arrangements must be made for transportation, for food, clothing, laundry. Base hospitals must be set up for medical treatment for sick and wounded soldiers. And for all of these things, land must be acquired, the major pointed out, urging every citizen in the section to cooperate with the government and make their lands available for defense training purposes.

100 OIL-CARRYING BARGES PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Admiral Emory S. Land proposed today construction of 100 oil carrying barges as the speediest and least expensive solution for shortages of gasoline and fuel oil along the eastern seaboard.

The blunt-spoken chairman of the maritime commission said he was opposed to construction of a huge new pipeline from southwestern oil fields to the east because it would take 750,000 tons of steel badly needed by the navy and maritime commission.

The admiral told a senate committee that the barges could be towed by tankers and other ships and could be constructed at the rate of 20 a month starting in January, with about 100,000 tons of steel.

"I don't know where they are going to get this 750,000 tons of steel (for the pipeline) but if it's to come out of the navy or my ships, then I'm against it," Land said.

Shortly before this Land said that seizure of 26 tankers by South American republics was under a "pro forma agreement" and that some of these might be used within two months to meet any pretroleum shortages in this country.

FIRE CHIEF ENDS LIFE AT COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, Miss., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Fire Chief Henry Foote Cox, 36, ended his life with a shotgun at the fire station here today, a coroner's jury reported after an inquest.

Cox, who had been in ill health for two months, told firemen he was going upstairs to change clothes. A muffled report was heard later and his body was found in a bath room, with the door tightly closed.

Cox was elevated to chief four months ago following the death of Chief J. L. Beaty, who was killed when a fire truck overturned.

SOUTHARD REBUKED AND THEN RESTORED

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Earl Southard, suspended Illinois department commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was publicly reprimanded today before the organization's national convention and then restored to his former status.

Southard had been court-martialed because of his activities as secretary of the Keep America Out of War committee. Yesterday the delegates accepted a credentials committee report which excluded him.

The reprimand was carried out by National Commander Joseph C. Menendez as decreed by the findings of the court-martial, announced today for the first time. Immediately thereafter, Menendez ordered Southard seated as a delegate.

Silence greeted Menendez' announcement that the court-martial had found Southard guilty, but when he declared the suspension revoked he was interrupted by applause.

"As commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars," said Menendez, "I approve the finding of the court. The court recommends a reprimand. I concur in that finding."

The national commander said, however, he was revoking the suspension "in the spirit of unity and comradeship."

GLADNEY WILL GET CONSERVATION JOB

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 29.—(AP)—George A. Wilson, general attorney for the Louisiana conservation department, today announced his resignation to reenter the private practice of law at Shreveport.

Wilson will be succeeded by Edward L. Gladney who since last April has served as a special assistant to the attorney general at Baton Rouge. Gladney formerly practiced law at Bastrop.

Wilson has served as general counsel since May 15, 1940. He said today at a conservation department oil hearing here he would open his office in Shreveport.

HARRIMAN TO HEAD U. S. DELEGATION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed today that he would appoint W. Averell Harriman head of an American delegation which will go to Moscow to consider the problem of aid to Russia.

Harriman has been in London handling lease-lend operations, and Mr. Roosevelt said John Biggers, who has been in charge of production for the Office of Production Management, would take over Harriman's duties in the British capital.

The delegation to Moscow, which will meet with corresponding British and Russian groups, may be appointed within a few days, the president told a press conference, and may have a half-dozen members.

Salmon Chowder Pie

Summer is a good time to get out your cookbook and hunt up the meal-in-one-dish ideas. Appetites are just as easily satisfied when dinner comes out of one dish as when it is spread out in half a dozen, all of which must be washed, plus pots and kettles, too! For a starter, here's a time-saver and budget-sparer in one: Salmon Chowder Pie.

- 4 tablespoons chopped onion
- 4 tablespoons fat
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup water drained from cooked vegetables
- 2 cups milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1½ cups cooked diced potatoes
- 1 cup cooked sliced carrots
- 1 cup cooked peas
- 1 pound canned salmon
- 1 recipe All-Bran Biscuit

Simmer onion in fat until tender. Add flour; stir to smooth paste. Add liquid ingredients; cook until thickened. Add seasonings, vegetables and flaked, boned salmon. Pour into large greased baking dish, cover with unbaked All-Bran Biscuits or biscuit dough rolled to fit dish. Bake in moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 20 minutes or until biscuit is done.

Yield: 8-10 servings.

Removing Furniture Scratches. If your mahogany furniture gets scratched, paint it with iodine until the proper shade is reached, let dry and polish until glossy.

Quick Frozen Meats Simplify Preparation Of Sunday Dinners

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
(NEA Service Staff Writer)

Sunday dinner during summer can be simplified with the help of modern science. Quick frozen meats and fowl, ready to cook without any cleaning or singeing or other preliminary work, cut down kitchen time. If these special foods fit comfortably into the family budget, they can be used on Sundays to give the housewife more time outdoors with the other members of the family.

MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange and fresh lime juice, scrambled eggs, brown rice muffins, jelly, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Spanish fricassee of chicken, mashed potatoes, buttered peas with fresh chopped mint, watercress salad, green apple pie with cheese, coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Chicken-tomato bouillon in cups, cold cuts, whole-wheat toast, relishes, celery, radishes and olives, cocotnut layer cake, fruit bowl, tea, or milk.

The following recipes are for quick frozen meats and fowl, and have been tested in the laboratories of one of the leading processors.

Spanish Fricassee Of Chicken
(Serves 4 to 6)

One quick frozen fowl for fricassee, partially thawed, 1-2 cup butter or other fat, salt and pepper, 1-2 cup sliced onions, 1-4 cup diced celery, 1-2 cup sliced mushrooms, 4 cups canned or fresh stewed tomatoes, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1-2 teaspoon sugar.

Separate fowl into pieces for serving. Saute in butter, season with salt and pepper, and place in large kettle. Saute onions, celery and mushrooms in drippings in pan. Add tomatoes and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Add parsley and sugar and pour over chicken. Cook slowly, partially covered, 2½ hours, stirring occasionally.

Mixed Grill
(Serves 4)

Caps from ½-pound mushrooms or small rounds of eggplant, 4 quick frozen lamb chops, 1 box (8 ounces) quick frozen calf liver, thawed, four medium tomatoes halved, melted butter, salt, pepper, 8 slices bacon.

Press rounds of eggplant or if mushrooms are used, peel the caps. Brush lamb chops, liver, tomatoes and mushroom caps or rounds of eggplant with butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place on well-heated broiler and broil at high heat. Broiling times: lamb chops, 10 minutes on each side; mushrooms, 5 minutes on each side; eggplant rounds, 6 minutes on each side; tomatoes, 3 minutes on each side; liver and bacon, 2 minutes on each side. Baste with melted butter during broiling. To serve, arrange lamb chop, portion of liver, 2 slices of bacon, 2 tomatoe halves, and portion of mushrooms or eggplant on plate. Garnish with parsley or watercress.

Bran Spice Muffins

The soup-salad-dessert meal always goes over big when it's too hot to contemplate a potato, roast and vegetable dinner. Don't skip over the soup. Something hot's needed when the rest of the meal is cold, and it's better to have it at the beginning than at the end. With your salad serve Bran Spice Muffins, right out of the oven. These take only 20 minutes to make so you needn't worry about getting the kitchen too hot.

- 2 cups All-Bran
- ½ cup light molasses
- 1½ cups milk
- 1 egg
- 1 cup flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1½ teaspoons cinnamon
- ¾ teaspoon ginger
- 15 thin slices raw apple or other fruit
- cinnamon and sugar mixture

Add All-Bran to molasses and milk and allow to soak for 15 minutes. Beat egg and add to first mixture. Sift flour, salt, soda and spices together and combine with All-Bran mixture. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Dip apple slices in cinnamon-sugar mixture and place on top. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees Fahrenheit) about 20 minutes.

Yield: 15 muffins (2¼ inches in diameter).

Renewing Artificial Flowers. Artificial flowers may be made to look like new by placing them over the steam of boiling water for a few minutes.

Good Sink Brush. A worn whisk-broom makes a fine sink brush if you can cut off the worn bristles clear up to the stiff part. Always rinse clean after using.

POLLET TURNS IN 3-HIT JOB OVER GIANTS

Young Southpaw Seems Destined To Be Star; Dodgers Are Idle

By Judson Bailey
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Howard Pollet is a young fellow with whom baseball fans might as well get acquainted, because he is going to be a great star and may help squeeze the St. Louis Cardinals into this year's National league championship.

Pollet is the 20-year-old southpaw who turned the Texas league upside down for Houston before the Cards promoted him a couple weeks ago. Down there he won 20 and lost four, had an earned-run average of 1.06, and pitched five shutouts, including a no-hitter.

He is a slim, swarthy kid with a business-like look in his dark eyes. He is ready, willing and able to do a man's work in the major leagues. Yesterday he shut out the New York Giants, 5-0, on three scattered singles. Previously he had beaten the Boston Braves, 3-2, on four hits, and had lost to the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3-2, while giving seven safeties.

His triumph over the Giants came while the Dodgers had an open day and shaved Brooklyn's first-place margin to one game.

Two of the hits off Pollet were of the infield variety, and all three were made after he had two out. The Cardinals clustered five singles and a double-error by pitcher Cliff Melton to score all their five runs in a rowdy fourth inning.

The National league had another spectacular pitching show as Boston downed the Chicago Cubs, 2-1. Tom Earley held the Cubs to two hits, one of them a homer by Phil Cavaretta in the ninth. Vallie Eaves pitched four-hit ball, but forced in a run in the first with a walk and gave another on Max West's homer in the fourth.

Pittsburgh edged out the Phillies, 2-2, with three runs in the ninth, two of them on a double by little Lee Handley.

The New York Yankees maintained their 17-game lead in the American league by bopping the St. Louis Browns, 8-5, in 10 innings. The Yankees punched over five runs in the first three innings and then settled down to coast home. But George McQuinn, who had knocked in a run with a double in the first inning, tied the score with a two-bagger in the ninth.

This forced the Yankees to turn on the scoring switch again and they blasted across three tallies in the extra frame. Tom Henrich knocked in two of them with a double.

Thornton Lee, the year's outstanding lefthander in the American league, chalked up his 17th victory by holding the Washington Senators to four singles while the Chicago White Sox rolled to a 4-0 shutout. Taft Wright had a perfect day at bat with a double and two singles and Luke Appling hit two singles. Each player drove in two runs.

Rudy York hit a homer with the bases loaded in the seventh inning to give the Detroit Tigers an 8-7 triumph over the Boston Red Sox after homers by Ted Williams and Joe Cronin had headed the Sox into an early lead.

Dick Siebert singled with the bases loaded to score three runs in the seventh and propel the Philadelphia Athletics to a 5-3 victory over the staggering Cleveland Indians. The A's opened with a pair of runs off Al Milnar in the first, but Cleveland clawed back with three tallies in the same frame. However, Bill Beckman, who replaced Johnny Babich with one out in the first inning, held the Indians to four hits the rest of the way.

BROWNS FORCE YANKEES TO GO TEN INNINGS

Bombers Finally Down St. Louis, 8-5, In Overtime Contest

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The New York Yankees gave good proof Thursday that they have been holding something in reserve while coasting along at the head of the American league.

After the St. Louis Brown had tied the score in the ninth inning the Bombers exploded three runs in the tenth and won 8 to 5.

The Yanks pumped two runs across in the first inning with three hits, one a double by Joe Gordon. Then in the third Tom Henrich hit his 26th home run with one on and singles by Gordon and Frenchy Bordegaray added another.

This appeared to be all the Yankees needed, and they took things easy while Atley Donald set out to pitch himself a good game.

George McQuinn doubled a run across in the first and St. Louis collected another in the sixth on a single, a walk and a couple of outs. No one was disturbed, but when the Browns put together three singles and a walk for two runs in the eighth, Norman Branch was sent to the mound to hold onto the victory.

Then McQuinn came through with another double after Harlond Clift walked in the ninth to bring in the tying run.

This awakened the Yanks to action in the tenth, when Fritz Ostermueller took the mound for the Browns. Bordagaray walked, Phil Rizzuto sacrificed and both runners were safe as Ostermueller fumbled the ball. Branch fouled out, but Pinchhitter Gerry Priddy singled to load the bases. When Red Rolfe also fouled out, Bordagaray raced home after the catch and Rizzuto went to third. Priddy stole second and both runners scored on a single by Henrich.

YORK'S HOMER BEATS BOSOX

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Rudy York, whose recent batting slump was attributed to a broken wrist about which he kept silent, slammed a home run into the left field stands with the bases filled in the seventh inning Thursday to give the Detroit Tigers an 8 to 7 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

The four-bagger, York's 21st of the season, came off Relief Pitcher Mike Ryba and enabled the Tigers to overcome a three-run margin the Sox, aided by homers of Ted Williams and Manager Joe Cronin, had built up over the first six innings off starter Al Benton.

Ryba had relieved Joe Dobson with

SHUTOUT TRIO OF THE CHICAGO WHITE SOX

Here are three reasons why the Chicago White Sox made a three-game shutout sweep of their current series with the Philadelphia Athletics, (Left to right) Thornton Lee's six-hit 4-0 win was his 16th victory of the year; Johnny Rigney blanked the A's again the following day, 9 to 0, and Johnny Humphries pitched his second straight shutout 1 to 0 against the A's Johnny Babich.

AMATEUR GOLF IN SEMI-FINALS

Four Golfers Remain In Running For Notional Golf Championship

OMAHA, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A Texan who won his golfing reputation in Virginia, a former champion from Spokane, Wash., a "reformed professional" from Boston, and a one-time movie extra from Los Angeles Thursday battled their way into the semi-final round of the 45th amateur championship of the United States Golf association.

Before galleries that were startlingly large in view of the fact the hometown favorites as well as the 1940 winner had been knocked out Wednesday, each got by the hazard of two 18-hole matches and did so in the following fashion:

Bobby Riegel of Houston—he won four out of six holes on the back nine to beat blond Walter Burkemo of Evanston, Ill., by 4 and 3 in the morning. Then he fought a stiff south wind for 18 holes and a 1 up victory over Bruce McCormick, Los Angeles fireman, with the margin accounted for through a misreading of the rule book by the U. S. G. A. referee.

Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane—after an unexpectedly tough struggle to dispose of Glenn Oatman of Kansas City by 3 and 1 in the morning—got his worst nine holes of the tourney out of his system in the afternoon, still was 1 up at that point, and played two-under-fours golf for the next five holes to stop Steve Kovach, Pittsburgh steel mill worker, 5 and 4.

Ted Bishop of Boston—this 28-year-old ice cream salesman, who was reinstated as an amateur in 1934 and had not got beyond the second round in two previous tries, put on a grand second-nine comeback to win his third-round match from Hal Stone, Jr., 21-year-old Stanford university grad from Bloomington, Ill., 1 up. Then he took on 24-year-old Lou Jennings of Portland, Ore., who had fast been getting a rating as the tournament "comer," and allowed the youngster only two holes all day in winning by 5 and 3.

Pat Abbott of Los Angeles—finalist against Willie Turnesa at Oakmont in 1938—knocked out two of the toughest cookies in the field. An incoming three-under-par 33 for a one-under 71 beat tall Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., 2 up in the morning, and another one-under-par performance, this time for 16 holes, put out Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., who had gone to the finals in 1937 and 1939, by 3 and 2.

The Riegel-McCormick case, the moment the match ended with a half in bogey 5's on the 18th, began taking on the porportions of a "cause celebre" that will be discussed for a long time to come.

McCormick, on the ninth hole, hit a whale of a drive and, while waiting for Riegel to play his second, stumbled over his club and kicked his ball a few feet. Then, believing the penalty to be one stroke, he chipped up stiff on what then would have been his third and got a half in 4's.

But Referee W. F. Nicholson, U. S. G. A. committeeman from Denver, could find only a ruling calling for loss of the hole in the book, and asked McCormick if that were all right with him, since he had a feeling there was an exception under which it should be only a stroke. McCormick said he was satisfied, teed off, and thus closed the incident on the books since a protest must be filed before the next hole is begun.

Abbott's golf was by far the most brilliant of the day. Where the others were being bothered by the wind, Pat was pitching and chipping to perfection, putting on such a display that he took the starch right out of Billows, who would play his shots down the middle only to find Abbott dropping the ball inside him from the rough or the fringe of the greens.

Friday, starting at 9:45 a. m., central standard time, he will tee off against Bishop in their 36-hole semi-final. At 9:30 it will be Riegel against Ward.

The McCormick-Riegel match wasn't much of a golfing exhibition. The Californian, who hits a long ball but a high one, had a tough time controlling his woods and long irons in the wind, and Riegel wasn't much better. On the 17th McCormick was over the green and chipped back too strong to take a 6 to Riegel's 5, and the match was over when the 18th was halved.

Ward got straightened out against Kovach starting with the 10th when he birdied that hole on an eight-foot putt, then parred the 12th which his rival three-putted, and won No. 13 and 14 to end the match.

Jennings didn't play anywhere near the golf against Bishop that had brought him victory Wednesday over 1940 Champion Dick Chapman. He three-putted twice and went out of bounds twice.

Abbott pitched six feet from the cup on No. 3 against Billows for a birdie 4, and got another at No. 4 on a pitch to within a yard of the flag. On the back nine he pitched within six inches of the cup at No. 10, stuck another a foot from the hole at No. 11, laid an approach four feet from the flag at No. 13 to go 3 up and got halves on the last three holes.

Shreveport Obtains Eight Members Of Monroe Club

Sports Buy Pruitt, Medak, Hill, Hoffman; Game At Helena Rained Out

The sale of four members of the Monroe White Sox baseball club to the Shreveport Sports, the recall of two others and the fruits of a working agreement that will send another pair to the Sports was announced last night by Walter Kellogg, official of the local organization.

While the Sox are in Helena where their scheduled game last night was rained out thus setting up a twin bill for tonight, club officials said the Sports had purchased Third Baseman Guy "Red" Pruitt, First Baseman Pete Medak, Outfielder Bob Hill and Pitcher Ray Hoffman.

The Sports have recalled Pitcher Verne Williamson and Catcher Ernie Potocar, and they will also get Pitchers Will Reeder and Theo Hoemann in accordance with their working agreement with the Sox.

With the exception of Williamson and Potocar all players listed in the transactions will not have to report to Shreveport until next spring. Williamson and Potocar will join the Sports at the conclusion of the Sox' Cotton States campaign.

Terms of the sale of Pruitt, Medak, Hill and Hoffman were not revealed. Pruitt is one of the Cotton States' top sluggers and Hill is considered the best defensive fielder in the league.

Dave Philley, outfielder optioned here by Shreveport at the beginning of the season and recently sold to the Chicago White Sox, returned to Shreveport last Monday night.

Over at Texarkana the Twins have disposed of seven players, according to reports. Pitcher Merle Coleman and Shortstop Jimmy Waldrop have been conditionally sold to the Memphis Chicks; Outfielder Dick Mead, Pitcher Dick Baird and Catcher Martin Tabacheck were purchased by Winston-Salem of the Piedmont league; and Outfielders Charlie Metro and Hal Hirshon were sold outright to Beaumont of the Texas league.

Meanwhile the Cotton States league is staging one of its closest pennant races in years.

With the exception of the Hot Springs-Marshall double header, all scheduled clashes last night were postponed because of rain, but the Bathers gained a full game on the leading Sox by trouncing the Tigers, 9 to 4 and 7 to 3.

The second place Spas are only four and a half games out of first place, but the real battle at the present is for the second, third and fourth spots in the impending championship playoffs.

Hot Springs is a game and a half ahead of the third place Vicksburg Bills who are only half a game in front of Greenville. Helena, in fifth place, is just a game and a half out of the first division. Texarkana, El Dorado and Marshall are definitely without hopes of crashing the playoffs.

The Sox play only one more game here, meeting the Vicksburg Hill Billies at Casino park next Thursday night which will be celebrated as "Taitt Night," honoring the Sox manager.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Mike Jacobs admits he "ain't had a laugh like it since the petunias came up." . . . Here everybody's mourning that the world series'll cut into the Louis-Nova gate—and Uncle Mike only has $125,000 advance orders in the till already. . . . And if the National league is such a great pitcher's loop, how come the three top lifetime records in the big time today are owned by American league elbowers? . . . Lefty Grove with 300 wins, Red Ruffing with 245 and Ted Lyons with 243. . . . In case you haven't noticed, the next game the Yanks win puts the old mathematical elimination slug on the Tigers—who only copped last year's flag.

DIS-A AND DAT-A

The things that made up Larry MacPhail's mind about bringing Augie Galan to Brooklyn instead of letting him escape to Los Angeles was that Augie always batted .320 in Ebbets field as a Chicago Cub. . . . Glenna Collett Ware is hitting 'em as good as ever. . . . The ex-golf queen was one over even fours walloping another gal 6 and 5 in a tournament match un Rhode Island way a couple days ago. . . . After giving his Iowa sophs the double-o, Eddie Anderson didn't even bother taking his crying towel out of the mothballs. . . . Frisco is bidding for the 1942 P. G. A. tournament. . . . And the Baltimore Sun's C. M. Gibbs, hearing that Bobby Feller is working on a new pitch, wonders if "a new team wouldn't be of more help."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Don Donaghy, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin: "Larry MacPhail staged a fashion parade at the Dodgers' ball park before a ball game. . . . It is now apparent why Blimp Phelps fled the Dodgers' gold. What ball player wants to go down in history as the man who modeled the stylish stouts?"

GENIUS

The winner of this week's fur-lined handkerchief is the brilliant mind in Joliet, Ill., who invented a softball game with three teams playing at the same time. The whisper is the latest frowns came when Jimmy wanted Burleigh Grimes as coach and the office signed Kiki Cuyler. . . . There's more than $21,000 in unclaimed winning bets piled up in the Saratoga secretary's office waiting to be collected. . . . Don't throw your mutuel tickets away till the result's official, folks.

Bob Blattner, the new second sacker Pepper Martin sent up from Sacramento to the Cards, got his start winning table tennis championships. . . . They waited nine years for Seabiscuit to come along and bust Sun Beau's money-winning record in 1940. . . . Now Whirlaway looks like a cinch to do it by the time the Santa Anita handicap comes 'round. . . . He needs about $117,000 more. . . . What's this about Henry Armstrong thinking of coming back under a manager other than his old pal Eddie Mead? . . . Say it ain't so, Hennery. . . . Dick Wakefield, the Tigers' $45,000 beauty, is slated for Buffalo next season. . . . Piedmont league folks say he's "good hit, no field" in their loop. . . . And up at Rochester the other night, side attractions to a ball game included an egg-throwing contest, a walking competition and a race to see who could circle the bases and fill a pipe fastest. . . . What—no Mickey Mouse?

CARDS' ROOKIE SENSATION IN SHUTOUT WIN

Howard Pollet Handcuffs Giants On Three Hits For 5-0 Victory

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals took advantage of an open date for the Brooklyn Dodgers Thursday to crush the New York Giants 5 to 0 and cut the margin between first and second place in the National league to one game.

Howard Pollet, the 20-year-old rookie southpaw sensation of New Orleans, pitched a magnificent game in holding the Giants to three scattered singles while his teammates blew the struggle wide open with a five run blast in the fourth inning.

It was Pollet's third start since being called up from the Texas league two weeks ago and was his second victory. He beat the Boston Braves 3-2 on four hits in his debut and then lost a 3-2 decision to Brooklyn last Sunday, although holding the Dodgers to seven safeties.

Thursday he gave a scratch single to Mel Ott in the first, a hit by Dick Bartell in the third and another by Johnny Rucker in the sixth. Each came with two out and the only real threat against him developed in the eighth when Bill Jurges walked and Joe Orengo was hit by a pitched ball with one out. Then Pinchhitter Hank Danning popped up, Bartell sacrified and Rucker fanned.

That one base on balls was the only one the youngster gave.

The Cards made 11 hits altogether and two other New York hurlers Bob Carpenter and Ace Adams saw service, but that was all the scoring

CHICAGO BEARS SMASH ALL-STAR ELEVEN, 37 TO 13

Pro Champions Pass Way To Victory Over College Grid Stars

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Brilliant forward passing by Sid Luckman, late of Columbia, enabled the Chicago Bears, monarchs of the professional football world, to triumph over the collegiate All-Stars, 37 to 13, before a record crowd of 98,200 in flood-lighted Soldier Field Thursday night. It was the third successive victory for the professionals in the eight-year-old series.

The Bears, using the same players and famed "T" formation with which they slaughtered the Washington Redskins by the incredible score of 73 to 0 to win the professional championship last year, possessed entirely too much power on the ground and deception in the air for the collegians, called the most gifted ever assembled.

Luckman hurled two forwards for touchdowns and sent another swishing through the air that was responsible for another of the five the Bears rolled up.

The Bears, heavily favored to triumph, were held to a 13-to-6 score in the first half, but turned on the power in the fourth period, crossing the goal three times, after Lee Artoe had registered three points in the third by a sensational 46-yard kick from placement.

Luckman started the scoring for the professionals in the first period by firing a 22-yard bullet pass to Ken Kavanaugh, who galloped 12 yards to score. Mander's try for the extra point was blocked.

Then Minnesota's George Franck tore through the Bears' defense to return the kick-off 43 yards to the Stars' 46. Norman Standlee of Stanford, Michigan's Tommy Harmon, Franck, and Ed Frutig of Michigan lugged the ball to the Bears' 23, and Harmon fired a 20-yard touchdown pass to Franck, tying the score. The point try was blocked.

ATHLETICS TRIM INDIANS

CLEVELAND, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Three walks in a row by Al Milnar, Cleveland pitcher, and a single by Dick Siebert, produced three seventh-inning runs for the Philadelphia Athletics Thursday to help them to a 5 to 3 victory over the Cleveland Indians and split the two-game series.

With two men out, Milnar passed Wally Moses, Frankie Hayes and Bob Johnson. The count was three and two on Siebert when he singled off Lou Boudreau's glove to bring in the trio on bases.

Clint Brown relieved Milnar at the end of the inning and held the A's hitless in finishing for the Tribe.

Johnny Babich, the A's starting pitcher, went to the showers after allowing three hits in one-third inning and was replaced by Bill Beckman, who scattered four safeties in the rest of the game to get credit for the victory.

BRAVES EDGE CUBS

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Tom Earley's two-hit pitching gave him a slight edge in a stirring hurling duel with Vallie Eaves of the Chicago Cubs Thursday, enabling the Boston Braves to take a 2-1 verdict and the rubber tilt of their three-game series.

Bill Nicholson singled in the fourth and that was the only blow off the Boston boy until the ninth, when, with two away, Phil Cavaretta slammed a 2-2 pitch over the right field fence to save the Cubs from a whitewashing.

BUCKS SHADE PHILLIES

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—(AP)—For eight innings Thursday, Ike Pearson, Phillies righthander, shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates but they exploded in the ninth to score three runs with two out for a 3 to 2 win.

Elbie Fletcher poked out a single to open the ninth but Pearson fanned Vince DiMaggio and retired Stu Martin on an infield grounder. Then Debs Garms batted for Al Lopez and singled to score Fletcher. Maurice Van Robays, pinch-hitting for Pitcher Lloyd Dietz, doubled, Garms pulling up at third, and Jeep Handley doubled for his fourth hit of the day to score both runners.

Tommy Hughes relieved Pearson and promptly walked Arky Vaughan and Bob Elliott, but Frank Hoerst came in to retire the side without further scoring.

SOUTHERN

CRAX CINCH PENNANT

ATLANTA, Aug. 29.—(AP)—By taking a double header from New Orleans here Thursday night 5 to 1 and 5 to 4, the Atlanta Crackers cinched their fourth Southern association pennant in the last seven years.

Atlanta now has 11 games left to play; second-place Nashville, 17. Even if Atlanta lost all 11 and crippled Nashville won all 17, the standings at the end of the season would show Atlanta with 92 wins against 62 losses and Nashville with 91 wins against 62 losses.

The Crackers won Thursday night's games with an outfielder playing third, a slugging rookie in the outfield and a kid just off Manhattan college campus catching.

Willard Marshall came in from left field to play third and Charley Glock moved to second to give Connie Ryan a rest. Rookie Babe Ellis, who played left field, got four hits in seven trips and drove in three runs. The lad behind the plate in the second and pennant winning game was Bill Schwitter.

Pop Rambert, pitching the first game for the Crackers, allowed the Pels only six hits, all singles. The home team clinched the first game with a four run outburst off Al Jurisich in the fourth. Allyn Stout breezed along for six innings of the nightcap before a double, two singles and a homer by pinch-hitter Bill Seinsoth gave the Pels four runs in the seventh. He was relieved by Bob Chipman, who struck out two of the next three batters.

New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Cotton futures were irregular today as buying sentiment wavered under the pressure of local selling, commission house liquidation and hedging. Stop loss orders contributed to the decline.

Buyers were distributed by the OPACS ruling forbidding speculation in fats and oils and conflicting reports of the intensity of insect damage to the crop. The tendency was to await the government crop report due September 8.

Late prices were 6 to 9 points lower; October 16.71; March 17.07; and July 17.10.

Cotton futures rallied on trade buying and local covering in the last half hour with small scale up hedges and realizing to satisfy the demand.

FOUR TIE IN HERSHEY PLAY

Quartet Of Top-Notch Pros Turn In 69s In Open Tournament

HERSHEY, Pa., Aug. 29.—(AP)—A dozen golf professionals took the long, tough Hershey Country club layout apart Thursday, and leading the first round of the $5,000 Hershey Open championship at the end of the firing was a quartet of top notchers tied at 69, four under par.

Deadlocked for the lead were Ben Hogan, the host professional; Clayton Heafner, Linville, N. C.; George Fazio, of Philadelphia and Harry Nettleblatt, Framingham, Mass.

Hogan and Heafner had duplicate rounds of 37-32, their back nine scores equalling the course record.

Nettleblatt, who has played the 7,000 yard Hersney course well in many previous tournaments, was steady all the way with a 35-34 and Fazio sparkled with a 33 going out, then slackened the pace with a 36.

Other par busters were Lloyd Mangrum, Denny Shute, Terl Johnson, who had the best front nine of 32, and Horton Smith at 70; Tom Harmon, Montclair, N. J., Feliz Serafin, of Scranton, Pa., and Bill Stackhouse, Sequin, Tex., at 71; Louis Worsham, Bethesda, Md., Sam Snead and Rut Coffey, Hagerstown, Md., at 72. Equalling par of 73 were Red Kirkwood, Gene Kunes, Joe Ludes and Mike Turnesa.

Stretched out behind with the rest of the field of more than 100 were Ralph Guldahl, Joe Turnesa and Ray Mangrum at 74; Johnny Bulla, Sam Byrd and Jimmy Thomson, at 75 and Ky Laffoon at 79.

Dick Chapman, United States Amateur champion last year, flew here from Omaha, rushed on to the first tee and took 41 shots on the first nine, then came back with a resounding 34, including three putts on the last hole, for a 75 to lead the amateurs.

CONTRACT IS SIGNED FOR RUBBER PLANT

BATON ROUGE La., Aug. 29.—(AP)—The signing of a $7,500,000 contract for a plant here to manufacture butadiene, an ingredient of synthetic rubber, was announced Thursday by M. J. Rathbone, president of the Standard Oil company of Louisiana.

Plans for the factory were announced several weeks ago. Rathbone said the contract was signed with war department officials in Washington Saturday, providing the plant would be constructed and owned by the government, but leased for five years to the Standard Oil company. It will produce annually 15,000 pounds of butadiene from waste gases, enough for 30,000 pounds of rubber to be manufactured in Akron, Ohio, and Hartford, Conn.

Synthetic rubber already is being produced at another plant on the Standard Oil grounds here.

MORE APARTMENTS ADVOCATED HERE

Rental opportunities for medium-sized apartments probably are better now than ever in the history of the Twin Cities because of the shortage of such residences and the coming influx of potential renters to be here in connection with the ammonia plant at Sterlington, according to George D. Holland, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Construction and improvision of apartments at minimum expense was advocated by the chamber secretary to care for the housing situation here. Demand for the housing facilities, however, probably will not continue more than a year or 15 months, he pointed out, adding that excessively expensive quarters were not advisable because of the temporary nature of the housing shortage.

Available residential accommodations should be listed with real estate agents immediately, Mr. Holland stated, stressing the fact that the Chamber of Commerce is not in the real estate business.

PINION BROTHERS TRANSFERRED HERE

Ralph and Floyd Pinion, West Monroe brothers, were in the parish jail Friday morning, their bonds set at $500 each, as a result of charges made by a third brother alleging the two left the state with his automobile without his consent, according to Sheriff Milton Coverdale.

The Pinion brothers were returned here Thursday night from San Antonio, Tex., by West Monroe Police Chief Jeff Caldwell and Deputy Sheriff W. O. Downing. The two were apprehended there at request of local officers, after Charles Pinion preferred charges.

GEORGE GRAFTON NAMED NEW MAYOR OF BERNICE

BERNICE, Aug. 29.—(Special)—Appointment of George D. Grafton as mayor of Bernice to fill the unexpired term of J. M. Talbot, who resigned recently, was received from Governor Sam H. Jones by Acting Mayor J. L. Caldwell and the town council Wednesday.

Grafton is the youngest mayor in the history of Bernice. He is athletic coach at Bernice High school.

The new mayor's father, the late W. F. Grafton, was mayor of Bernice for eight years, resigning in 1914.

PHANTOM NAZI GENERAL LEADS GERMAN TROOPS

Claim Guderian Possesses New And Demoralizing War Weapon

By Ernest G. Fischer

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's spearhead pointing toward Moscow is Colonel General Heinz Guderian, commander of the panzer army in the central sector, who is called by associates the phantom general of the French campaign.

The 53-year-old, round-faced, big-fisted warrior is chief of the inspection staff for German mechanized troops as well as panzer commander.

Well informed sources said Guderian had available a new and more demoralizing German weapon in artillery pieces mounted on tanks.

"And undoubtedly," these sources added, "he has some technical and tactical tricks which are not mentioned in Germany for the time being."

Guderian, who was attached to the general staff in the World war, was the first man to step across the Austrian border when anschluss was ordered, was celebrated for his exploits in Poland, and with a panzer outfit made the famed dash behind and around the Maginot line.

Not until weeks after the Russian campaign started was the German public told that Guderian was operating in the central sector of the eastern front. He had been at Brest-Litovsk and pushed far ahead into the Smolensk area.

There is still a mystery as to how he got heavy German tanks over the Maas river in less than 12 hours in the drive on the low countries, and the German public, recalling this exploit, views the eastern campaign in the central sector with confidence now that formidable swamps and streams have been negotiated.

But taking Moscow, Leningrad, and Kiev were not among Guderian's objectives, military observers pointed out, basing their opinion on Guderian's 1937 book "Die Panzertruppen und Ihr Zusammenwirken Mit Den Anderen Waffen (panzer troops and their cooperation with other weapons.)

Guderian contended that in a war of movement "the fight against enemy tanks must be carried out to their destruction. Only then can one think of disposing of other tasks."

While German correspondents sometimes report such freak incidents as the disabling of huge tanks by shoving hand grenades into turrets, Guderian observed that "panzer battles are decided by firing—rigid fire control and good training in marksmanship are especially important. By skillfully taking advantage of terrain one's own losses can be considerably lessened."

Above all, Berlin observers pointed out, Guderian guarded against underestimating the skill and ingenuity of Russian generals and the fighting power of the Red army.

For his own use Guderian has a special armored car in which he exhibits almost reckless courage, his associates say. Frequently he enters a tank equipped with radio and goes into the thick of the fight, maintaining radio contact with headquarters and units near him.

SAFE DRIVING IS AID TO NATIONAL DEFENSE PROGRAM

Every motorist can contribute a part to the nation's defense effort merely by putting into practice some of the safe and sane driving precautions which have been urged by the automotive industry for years, according to J. S. Kerr, local Goodyear tire dealer.

"Threat of a rubber shortage has been emphasized by the placing of government restrictions on its consumption, but motorists can get many more miles out of their tires and thereby help reduce waste of this valuable commodity," Mr. Kerr stated.

"Moderate top speeds for long distance driving are particularly important to long tire mileage and increased safety is an additional dividend. Tires will wear out twice as quickly driven at 60 miles per hour, as when driven at 35 miles per hour. If the driver accustomed to making 55 miles an hour reduces his speed to 50, he will gain 12 per cent in tire wear and also increase his miles per gallon of gasoline.

"Next to speed, quick starts and stops take a heavy toll on rubber. A little less hurry on the take-off at the change of the traffic light, or a more gradual stop habit, may mean more than 1,000 miles to a set of tires.

"In all of these examples, it is assumed that the tires are properly inflated. If they are not, the cost in useless waste of rubber will be much higher. Under-inflation will result in uneven wear and possible destruction of the sidewalls while treads are still good. Over-inflation makes the car ride hard and causes the center of the tread to wear out quickly.

"Today it's not only patriotic but plain common sense to give reasonable care to automobile tires," Mr. Kerr concluded.

Of the 22,000,000,000 gallons of gasoline consumed in 1940 by America's motor vehicles, 3,240,000,000 gallons, or 14.7 per cent, represented sheer waste from one major cause alone—failure to properly adjust the vehicle for fuel economy.

BIG LAND CASE IS WON BY U. S.

Long And Expensive Litigation With Railroad Finally Ended

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 29.—(AP)—The United States was richer today by $300,000 and 363,000 acres of land, and held clear title to an additional 2,900,000 acres after settlement of a land grant case dating back to 1864 and costing a million and a half dollars to complete.

Officials of the Northern Pacific railroad, losers in the case widely known as one of the most involved litigations in American history, conceded defeat yesterday by paying District Court Clerk A. A. La Framboise the $300,000.

District Judge Lewis D. Schwellenbach handed down the decree denying the railroad's claims to the land and ordering the payment.

Robert E. Mulroney, chief of the trails section, lands division of the department of justice, said the long-drawn-out controversy had cost the government close to $1,000,000. Defense attorneys estimated the railroad's costs at $500,000.

Back in 1864 and in 1870 land grants were made to the company to aid in building the road from Ashland, Wis., to Tacoma, Wash.

Nearly 40,000,000 acres were granted, and many years later the company maintained it still was entitled to some 3,700,00 acres and claimed the right to select 2,900,000 acres in areas withdrawn for forest and other purposes.

Congress in 1924 suspended the issuance of any new patents to the company and ordered an investigation of the claims. Five years later, after numerous hearings, congress acted to retain the disputed lands.

The government charged the company had violated its agreement with the United States, had been guilty of fraud during the administration of the grant and had obtained more lands than it was entitled to in the contract.

The case went before a special master and, after nine months, the district court ruled on the master's report that the charges of fraud and other allegations be stricken. The court held the company was entitled to compensation for approximately 1,453,000 acres of land and awarded the government compensation for about 66,000 acres.

Both railroad and government appealed the case and fought for three days before the supreme court to establish their claims. Last December the court reversed in part the first decision and remanded the case to the lower court.

The transportation act of 1940, removing low government rates on land grant railroads, held that the roads could obtain full commercial rates without relinquishing claims against the government, and last April the Northern Pacific filed a relinquishment.

The cash payment was for the 66,000 acres considered in the original trial. The 363,000 acres returned to government control was valued at $1,200,000.

STATE MANAGER

Albert H. Singer, who has been named Louisiana state manager for Calvert Distillers corporation.

INGENUITY BRINGS SIX MOVIE OFFERS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Jean Porter, pretty brunette dancer from Fort Worth, Tex., got tired of waiting for movie producers to discover her.

So she arranged to have her photograph attached to telegrams and sent them to 50 producers.

Jean's ingenuity brought offers from six studios. She accepted a dancing job with Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland in "Babes On Broadway."

Americans own more automobiles than bath tubs.

SINGER NAMED STATE MANAGER BY CALVERT

The promotion of Albert H. Singer to the position of Louisiana state manager for Calvert Distillers corporation has been announced by Harry Grossman, assistant general sales manager for the corporation.

Mr. Singer, who has been with the Calvert organization for the past five years, formerly was the company's central division sales promotion manager, with headquarters in Chicago. During that time, he established an excellent record and gained a wide knowledge of the industry and its problems.

Prior to joining Calvert, Mr. Singer managed a chain of retail stores located throughout the Chicago area.

In announcing the promotion, Mr. Grossman stated that Mr. Singer was well qualified for his new position, his expert knowledge of sales promotion methods, coupled with his sales ability, fully equipping him to handle Calvert sales in this most important southern market.
